

Japs Lower U.S. Flag as They Seize Launch; Protest Made

Two Vessels Flying Italian Flag are Also Boarded

ORPHANAGE TARGET

French Envoy Reports 86 Chinese Chil- dren Killed

Shanghai—(U)—American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss protested to the Japanese consulate today after a Japanese naval crew seized an American-owned steam launch and lowered the craft's American flag.

The launch, owned by the China Foreign Steamship company, an American firm and agent of the Roosevelt line, was seized as it lay along the French bund.

It was understood Italian authorities also protested against seizure of two vessels flying the Italian flag.

Earlier the French ambassador said today that Japanese air bombs had destroyed a Catholic orphanage as Kiashing and killed 86 Chinese children.

150 Are Missing

He also said 150 refugees, 4 French sisters and 5 Chinese sisters who were at the orphanage were missing.

The reports came as the Japanese continued their advance on Nanking. The Chinese defenders of the almost deserted capital were reported falling back to a line 40 to 60 miles east and southeast of the city, with Japanese columns in pursuit.

The orphanage bombing took place 15 days ago, but was reported today to Ambassador Paul Emile Nagai by a French and Italian father who walked 10 days from Kashi to Ningpo and boarded a vessel for Shanghai.

The two missionaries brought 44 young Chinese seminarians with them to Shanghai, but said all other residents of the Sisters of Charity orphanage were killed or missing.

Frequent Attacks

They told Father Moulis, procurator of the Lazarist mission headquarters, that the Japanese had bombed the orphanage frequently and had finally destroyed six buildings.

During the attacks, the missionaries said, the sisters herded their charges into a dugout on the mission grounds, but one bomb directly hit the dugout killing 26 girls between the ages of 9 and 15 while another hit the nursery killing 60 babies and wounding 2 Chinese sisters.

Father Moulis said sisters took 150 other orphans and adults, including some wounded, on a large skiff and fled toward the interior. He expressed fear for their safety as no word had been received from them.

The missionaries said the orphanage had no flag flying during the attacks and was located close to the home of Chinese General Chang Fah-Kwei where soldiers were constructing concrete pillboxes.

A Carmelite mission and a Lazarist mission nearby, flying a French flag, were not bombed.

Chinese Retreat

Japanese army communiques said the Chinese had retreated nearly to the Chinkiang-Tanyang-Kintan fortified line close to Nanking. The Japanese gained ground steadily on the central front, but were held up at the northern extremity.

They reported the capture of Kwanleah, about 100 miles south-east of Nanking, and Kiangyin, about 80 miles east of the capital. The main Japanese column was advancing along the Nanking-Shanghai railway near Yangang, 60 miles from Nanking, after capturing Wutsin.

As another column moved forward along the Hangchow-Nanking railway, the United States gunboat Oahu stood by at Wuhu to aid in the evacuation of 24 Americans if necessary.

An agreement was said to have been reached between Japanese and foreign officials of the customs service to permit resumption of virtually normal cargo landings at the port.

S. R. Harvey, assistant president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, termed a "smoke screen" the $6,300,000 damage suit filed by nine Greyhound Bus Lines at Cleveland, Bus-driving members of the union were called out on strike in a 16-state area.

All-Time Record Is Indicated for Lakes Shipping

Tonnage Known to be Largest Since 1929 and May Top That Year's

Cleveland—(U)—Great Lakes shipping, rapidly drawing to a close, may hang up an all-time record for the greatest tonnage ever carried in one season.

Although it will be some time before final results are definitely known, it is known that Great Lakes commerce this year has been the largest since 1929 and possibly larger than that record year.

Final figures for five major commodities for 1937 are expected to show:

Bituminous coal (cargo) 43,800,000 tons, against 44,010,585 tons last year.

Iron ore (net tons) 71,000,000, against 50,200,666.

Stone 17,000,000 tons, against 12,080,672.

Grain 6,500,000 tons, against 7,433,967.

This compares with 1929's aggregate for the same commodities of 138,574,441 tons.

Other Commodities

In addition added to the grand total will be large tonnages of sand and gravel, sulphur, pig iron and scrap, coke, oil, salt, automobiles and package freight.

Although the iron ore movement this year failed by a couple of million tons matching the 1929 banner year, the fast growing soft coal movement will be about 6,000,000 tons ahead of that year. This is mainly responsible for hopes that this year's total commerce will exceed 1929's.

With the final cargo of iron ore on its way down the lakes the Lake Superior Iron Ore association reports lake shipments of iron ore this season of 72,598,856 gross tons, an increase of 17,776,813 tons or 39.66 per cent over 1928 and comparing with the all-time peak of 65,980,674 tons in booming 1929.

The November movement of ore by lake was but 1,424,679 tons, a decrease of 2,333,472 tons or 62.09 per cent from the like month a year ago. This is further reflection of the slackening of steel mill operations.

Recession May End Labor Rift

Some Observers See Growing Tendency Toward Consolidation

Washington—(U)—Reports that the business recession was driving the A. F. of L. and CIO toward reunion spread today in labor circles. Although neither side has reported any loss in membership since industrial production began to decline, lay-offs of working men have reduced the income of both organizations. Union members ordinarily do not pay dues when unemployed.

Some labor men said that A. F. of L. and CIO leaders, faced with the prospect of having to curtail their organization campaigns, are starting to think more seriously about the benefits of consolidating their ranks.

A united labor front, they said, would prove far more effective in obtaining legislation that organized labor believes would revitalize business.

After yesterday's meeting, George M. Harrison, chairman of the A. F. of L. committee and president of the railway clerks union, reported progress had been made.

The committee, he said, had cleared away many of the misunderstandings which had developed during the two-year fight over organizing mass production industrial workers by industries (the CIO plan) or crafts (the A. F. of L. plan).

Church Group Lauds War on Liquor Evils

Also Praises Ministers for Campaign Against Gambling

SAYS YOUTH MENACED

Council of Churches Backs Report to Set Up Vigilante Body

Madison—(U)—The Wisconsin council of Churches adopted a resolution today praising the ministers of Milwaukee and other cities for their efforts to correct liquor and gambling evils.

"The evils of the old saloon, under a different name, have returned in spite of all political promises to the contrary," the resolution said.

"Youth is seriously threatened. The tendency to give these influences a right of way making it appear smart to indulge and conspicuous not to do so, threatens the foundations of the finest personality building."

The council also approved the report of its social service committee recommending a vigilante group within the organization to protest against caricaturization of Protestant clergymen by the motion picture industry, and to point out situations threatening religious liberty.

Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin, Milwaukee, told 70 lay and clerical delegates from nine denominations, that numerous bills, affecting the liquor and gambling laws had been introduced in the legislature and not given adequate publicity.

"He said there was danger that 'undesirable legislation might slip through without proper hearing.'"

The council met to discuss plans for further interdenominational activity.

Elect Officers

Dr. Theodore R. Faville, Madison, general superintendent of the Wisconsin Congregational conference, was elected president.

Other officers and division chairmen elected were:

Dr. Hal E. Norton, Janesville, S. A. Fulton, West Allis and Dr. Ella M. Hanawalt, Milwaukee, vice presidents; Dr. R. Burton Sheppard, Milwaukee, executive secretary; E. Radloff, Milwaukee, treasurer; Dr. Abraham Le Grand and M. A. Simonsen, Milwaukee, church life division.

Dr. A. H. Krussell, Plattville and Dr. Hanawalt, Christian education division; Rev. A. T. Wallace, Madison and Dr. Dakin, Milwaukee, social relations division; President Evans of Ripon college and Floyd Ross, Milwaukee, business committee.

Mrs. H. J. Lee, Wauwatosa, Rev. D. K. Roberts, Racine, Dr. L. Bradford, Waukesha, C. E. Houtcamp, West Allis, and Rev. M. A. Simonsen, Dr. R. B. Stansell and E. J. Steinberg, Milwaukee, members-at-large.

Jurors Selected For Murder Trial

Alternate Also Named for Trial of Four Chi- cago Men

Chicago—(U)—A jury of seven men and five women was chosen in municipal court today to try four Chicagoans charged with the murder of acting Detective George Raabe.

Raabe was shot to death Nov. 2 when he and fellow policemen surprised burglars who were attempting to loot the safe in the Luick Dairy company's main plant. One burglar also was killed.

One defendant was seized at the time of the shooting. The others, one badly wounded, were arrested the next day. They are Michael Kalamyer, who was shot, Charles Carney and Patrick Connolly.

Marking a new step in Wisconsin jurisprudence, the jury was augmented by an "extra" juror appointed by the court. The original 12 were picked by opposing counsel. The alternate will serve should one of them become incapacitated.

Governor Names 2 Men To State Soil Group

Madison—(U)—Governor LaFollette today appointed Paul Weiss of Earnum and George Nygaard of Chasburg to the state soil conservation committee created by the 1937 legislature.

Both were appointed for terms ending Nov. 29, 1939.

The appointments completed organization of the administrative body which will supervise the work of district committees in combatting soil erosion. One district committee has been established in the Kickapoo valley.

Dean Chris L. Christensen of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture and Warren Clark, director of the agricultural extension division of the university, are ex-officio members of the state committee. Noble Clark, assistant director of the extension division, is an alternate member.

Kills Black Bear With Ax to Save Woodcutter's Life

Phillips, Wis.—(U)—There might still be some lingering doubts as to Magnus A. Arnold's prowess as a hunter (he claims none) but he ranked as a first rate axman in these parts today.

Arnold, associate editor of a magazine published in Chicago, came to the deep northern Wisconsin woods for relaxation.

During a morning stroll through the woodlands he came upon Eric Hoagland, a woodcutter, in the deadly embrace of a 455-pound black bear. Seizing Hoagland's ax, Arnold clipped brute between the ears with a mortal blow.

He took Hoagland to a doctor and then returned to the scene and helped to drag the kill to camp. There he met Deputy Game Warden Harold Thornwald who arrested him for killing a bear out of season.

Hoagland then got a chance to do a good deed in return, telling authorities how Arnold happened to be killing bears out of season. The authorities dismissed the charge.

"And now," said Arnold, "do I get my bear?"

"Have you got a hunting license?" asked the warden.

"None," replied the editor.

"None," said the warden.

Exchange Ponders New Proposal to Meet Criticism

May Give Authority to Ex- ecutives Under Com- mittee Supervision

New York—(U)—The New York Stock exchange, answering a recent warning to reform or face governmental intervention, was disclosed today to be contemplating the transfer of greater administrative responsibilities to executives acting under committee supervision.

In a statement regarded in informed quarters in Wall Street as an effort to extend the olive branch to Washington, Exchange President Charles R. Gay warned against excessive regulation and experimentation and promised that, when improved methods could be found by impartial study, the exchange would adopt them.

"We do not feel justified in undertaking mere experimentation because we know that the general public would pay the price of mistakes and the price must be high," said Gay last night in reply to the demand last week of William O. Douglas, chairman of the securities and exchange commission, for sweeping changes in the operation of the nation's securities markets.

He answered Douglas' suggestion that "an immediate and more pervasive administration" directly by the SEC seemed to be necessary with the statement that "the public interest can best be served by leaving to the exchanges, under supervision of the commission, much of the regulation of their own business."

ACTION IN CHICAGO

Chicago—(U)—Commodity exchange commission agents began writing a new chapter today in the long history of governmental intervention in the nation's multi-billion dollar grain trading industry.

The federal agency's inquiry to determine the feasibility of tightening rules designed to throttle speculative activity in the grain futures markets was only one phase of a broad reexamination of trading speculations.

In the background was the board of trade's forthcoming hearing of charges that rules were violated in the recent famous corn deal last September. The climax of the "squeeze" in September corn was the exchange commission's investigation of the nation's multi-billion dollar grain trading industry.

Barkley Sees Passage of 4 Big Measures

OUTLINES "GOAL"

Expects Approval for Pro- posed Housing Leg- islation

Washington—(U)—Majority Leader Barkley said today he expected the senate to complete action on new farm legislation, the anti-lynching bill, government reorganization and housing legislation before the special session ends.

Barkley outlined "this goal" after a long conference with Democratic senators on the steering committee.

The administration leader admitted his program was "optimistic" in view of plans to end the special session "about Dec. 22" for the year-end holidays.

As the majority leader outlined legislative prospects, congress received a message from President Roosevelt calling for cancellation of next year's federal highway aid fund and reduction in such appropriations thereafter. The president declared "definite steps" of this kind were necessary to balance the budget.

Tax Legislation Waits

Barkley said Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the finance committee had discussed the demand for tax revisions to aid business, but added there was slight chance for legislative action at the special session.

Harrison, Barkley asserted, had gone over the work being done in the house and by treasury and legislative experts in re-drafting tax legislation.

The majority leader said he hoped the senate would complete action on the new farm legislation "within the week," adding that the anti-lynching measure then would "automatically come up" under its preferred status.

Both house and senate, meanwhile, argued leisurely over control while committees in both chambers started consideration of the chief executive's recommendations for liberalizing the housing act.

Stewart McDonald, housing administrator, was asked to explain the proposal to the house banking committee.

Democratic Leader Barkley of the senate predicted the bill would be out of committee in a week, and

Missourian Accused Of Slaying Ex-Wife

Union, Mo.—(U)—Wilbur Hemker, 28-year-old unemployed shoe worker, was under a first-degree murder indictment today, charged with the slaying of his attractive, 25-year-old former wife, Miss Opal Pickles.

The Franklin county grand jury voted the indictment against Hemker a few hours after Sheriff John Giebler said Hemker had orally admitted the shooting to him and to Sergeant W. G. Henderson of the Missouri state highway patrol.

Henderson quoted Hemker as saying:

"I was crazy about Opal, and might be jealous of her. I killed her, and now I have nothing to live for."

Miss Pickles, who was divorced from Hemker last August, was fatally wounded last Saturday night as she was sitting with Victor Monk, 26, in the parlor of the St. Clair, Mo., home of her sister.

A shotgun, fired through a window, struck her in the right side. She died 20 minutes later. Monk was slightly wounded.

Fear 2 Fishermen Lost But Search Continues

St. Ignace, Mich.—(U)—Two young fishermen who set out from St. Ignace Sunday night to lift a Huron catfish were found dead in Lake Huron, apparently perished in a storm, continued to search for them today.

The missing men are Carl Mattson, 26, and Raymond McLean, 29, both of St. Ignace.

A coast guard crew from Mackinac Island station rode the frigid waters from 9 o'clock a. m. to 7:30 p. m. Monday in a futile search.

A 16-foot open rowboat, Coast guardsmen said this morning the fishermen might have found refuge on some island Sunday night but more than likely had perished in the heavy seas running then and Monday.

Strike Is Launched At Plant at Wausau

Wausau—(U)—About 100 employees of the Marathon Rubber Products company walked out on strike this morning and began picketing the plant. Officials of the federal union, an AFL affiliate, said the management had "discriminated against union employees" by discharging a woman union leader recently.

J. L. Urow, president and manager of the company, said the woman was discharged because of poor workmanship.

Roosevelt Proposal to Cut U. S. Road Funds Is Assailed in Senate

Farm, Wage Hour Sponsors Engage In 'Horse Trading'

Attempts Made to Reduce Opposition to Admin- istration Bills

Washington—(U)—House sponsors of crop control and wage-hour legislation indulged today in some old-fashioned "horse trading" in an attempt to weaken the stubborn opposition to the two administration measures.

Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the agriculture committee and three other southern representatives added their names to the petition to force the wage-hour bill to the house floor.

"It looks like a question of reciprocity," commented Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) of the house labor committee.

She indicated members from rural areas hoped to gain votes for the farm bill by helping wrest the labor standards measure from the rules committee. Thirty signatures still were needed.

Ask 'Fixed Prices'

Jones declared that his signing did not commit him for or against the wage-hour bill. A subject of such widespread interest, he said, merited consideration.

While this was going on behind the scenes, 100 house members called for "fixed" prices for major crops instead of the benefit payments and loans proposed in the bill on which debate began yesterday.

Half a dozen senators, including McNary (R-Ore.) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said they would propose changes in the senate measure, which has been discussed more than a week.

Disapproves Measure

Chairman Smith (D-S.C.) of the senate agriculture committee expressed personal disapproval of the measure.

Representative Patman (D-Texas) led the large house bloc demanding fixed prices of $150 a bushel for wheat, $1 for corn, and 20 cents a pound for cotton.

"I want someone to explain to me why we can fix the price on coal and we can't on any basic agricultural commodity," he said.

Representative Sauthoff (R-Wis.) said the cost of administering the house proposal would be excessive, causing "two spilloons to flourish where only one flourished before."

Senate criticism was directed more at provisions of the "ever-normal granary" scheme than at its objectives.

Judge Upholds Farm Trucks Fee

Law Applies to Every Farm Vehicle of Two Tons or Less

Madison—(U)—Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis held today that the state law allowing a special $5 license rate for farm trucks applies to every farm vehicle having a weight of not more than two tons, unloaded.

He directed Secretary of State Theodore Damann to issue a special license to F. A. and M. G. Eberlein, operators of a farm near Shawano and owners of a truck with a net weight of 3,850 pounds.

Damann construed the law to mean the Eberleins could not have a special license unless they agreed to haul no load in excess of 150 pounds, which would bring the gross weight of the truck within the two ton limit.

Judge Reis said the legislature had made it plain the $5 license applied to the net weight of the truck, unloaded and even though other than farm trucks are licensed on a gross weight basis the apparent discrepancy does not call for court revision.

He said the law would be of no advantage to a farmer if he could not haul more than 150 pounds.

Attorneys Clash In Argument in Federal Court

'Let's Have No More of That,' Judge Tells Special Prosecutor

Madison—(U)—Bitterness between opposing attorneys in the federal government's gasoline price fixing case flared into the open today during an argument before Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone.

Colonel William J. Donovan, chief defense counsel, made an offer of proof of what the first defense witness would have testified had Judge Stone permitted a certain question.

Donovan read the offer after the jury retired.

Special Prosecutor John Henry Lewin then urged Judge Stone not to believe Donovan's "protestations" asserting the defense attorney had offered at the start of the trial to show written governmental approvals of the 16 defendant oil companies' activities and had failed to do so.

"How can the court take his protestations seriously?" Lewin asked.

Donovan hits back.

Judging Nearing Climax at World Livestock Show

Grand Champion Steer to Be Selected at International Exposition

Chicago—(P)—William H. Curry, of Tipton, Ind., was crowned king of the world at the International Livestock show today. His sample of yellow dent was judged the best submitted. Curry retained the honor that he won for the first time last year.

The reserve corn championship went to Floyd Hiner, Lewisville, Ind.

Melvin Wagoner, Hammond, (Pitt county) Ill., won the title of corn prince. He took this title from Harlan Neal, Manilla, Ind., who scored last year.

Chicago—(P)—Judging reached a climatic stage in the International Livestock Exposition today with the two best known titles of the show ready for bestowal.

Somewhere in the hundreds of stalls stood a hefty steer which will become the richest beef in the world—the king of cattle.

In the scores of cases that line the long halls of grain were the 12 ears that will make some farmer the king of corn. Three days of judging has narrowed both fields to small, blue ribbon groups.

Alexander Ritchie, manager of the Royal farms of King George VI at Windsor, England, will give the accolade in the steer ring. The title is an empty one for the animal—his lot is the slaughter house, like any other steer.

Last year's champion, G. Page from the Oklahoma A. and M. college barnlot, was an exception. G. Page was bought for an exhibition animal, the only grand champion steer ever to survive.

Other Champions
The grand champion vether lord of lamb—was chosen yesterday. The grand champion barrow, a prince of pork, will take his place in the royal line before tonight.

Purple, blue, red, yellow and white ribbons have been broadcast through the sprawling amphitheater in three busy days of selecting champions and runners up.

Canadian farmers appeared to have the better of it in the grain and hay show. They took away the wheat and oats titles and numerous minor championships.

With judging of fat livestock and grain completed, attention will be divided between horses in the breeding animal classes and the sales during the next four days.

Most of the million and a quarter dollars which officials estimated the exhibitors would carry home comes from the sales. Only about $100,000 was in prize money.

The biggest single deal profit usually is the sale of the grand champion steer, which has sold for $3 a pound each of the last three years. A champion usually weighs from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Generally fair and continued cold tonight and Wednesday.

General Weather

Light snow has fallen during the last 24 hours over sections of the lower Lakes and over the northern Rocky mountains, but fair weather is general this morning over nearly all sections of the country.

It is now slightly warmer over the upper Lakes and upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, but continued cold prevails over the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the central Rocky mountains.

Fair and continued cold weather is expected in this section tonight and Wednesday.

Thinks Less Than 500

Deer Shot in Rusk Area

Ladysmith, Wis.—(P)—E. A. Jipson of the Wisconsin Conservation commission estimated yesterday less than 500 of the approximate 5,000 hunters in Rusk county were able to bag a legal deer during the three-day hunting season just closed.

A three-inch snowfall on the afternoon of the second day improved hunting conditions for Sunday, Jipson said, and two-thirds of the deer killed were secured on the final day. No accidents were reported in the county.

The number of dead does and fawns reported seen was less than half the number for last year, indicating that hunters were more careful, the conservationist said. A few wolves were reported shot, and five large black bear were reported through the various checking stations.

"All in all, it was a good season," Jipson said.

Excavations Place Wisconsin as One of Oldest Inhabited Areas

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Discovery of prehistoric bison bones and human relics at Interstate park near St. Croix Falls, estimated to be between 10,000 and 40,000 years old, and which place Wisconsin among the oldest inhabited areas in America, has been reported here by Dr. Charles E. Brown, head of the Wisconsin Historical Museum.

A party of researchers representing the Wisconsin Archaeological society and directed by Dr. Brown, recently began excavations in an extinct lake bed in Interstate park where CCC workers had struck huge bones.

Digging produced fragments of the skeletons of six large, young buffalo of an extinct species, which it is hoped will be enough for the restoration of one specimen for the state historical museum.

The discovery of metal tools with the bones may cause scientists to revise their opinions as to the time when prehistoric animals became extinct and it may indicate a new route by which prehistoric man spread over North America, it is believed. Found with the bison bones were a double pointed copper awl and two flint arrow heads.

Only a few years ago, according to scientists, weapon points of chipped flint were found at Folsom, New Mexico, with the bones of extinct bison and were acclaimed the oldest type of tools on the continent.

For 40 years Dr. Brown has been rummaging around in the earth's surface to get an idea of what Wisconsin was like in prehistoric times.

For 40 years he has been seeking out old Indians, medicine men, chiefs and plain ordinary survivors of the tribes which once roamed Wisconsin, old settlers throughout the state, and anyone who has a story to tell which will enrich his stock of Wisconsin folklore.

And during all of that time Dr. Brown has been studying the legend of Paul Bunyan, the hero of Wisconsin's pioneer northwoods, which even today, with the coming of winter, is a favorite in the lumber camps of the Wisconsin north and which all lumberjacks believe or pretend to believe. Dr. Brown is probably the nation's foremost authority on Paul Bunyan, has written more about that mythical giant than any other folklore specialist in the country.

As state director of the Wisconsin Federal Writers' projects, Brown is supervising the work of collecting and preserving the innumerable bits of forgotten folklore which remains in the recollections of pioneer settlers all over Wisconsin, including those about the mythical Bunyan.

FFA Groups are More Active in Winter Months

Initiate New Members, Organize New Chapters, Advisor Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—The coming of the winter season has heightened the activities of the local chapters of the Future Farmers of America throughout the state, according to Louis Sasman, state advisor.

"Green Hands," are being initiated. Future Farmers are being promoted, new chapters are being organized, and father and son and parent and son meetings are being held.

The Clintonville chapter held its father and son banquet recently, under the direction of E. A. Hutchinson, advisor, and with speeches by state officers. "Green Hands" were recently initiated at a father and son banquet at Algona.

Initiate New Members
The Marion high school chapter will hold its parent and son banquet on Dec. 7, and recently held a poultry show. Chapters in Outagamie county are cooperating in meetings and initiations also.

The Shiocton chapter will initiate new members into the new chapter at Seymour Dec. 1, the Seymour chapter will initiate at Shiocton Dec. 8, and Kaukauna chapter will raise Shiocton initiates to the Future Farmer degree on the same date.

To be eligible for the Future Farmers degree, boys must have completed at least one year of systematic instruction in vocational agriculture and membership in the F. F. A. earn and invest productively at least $25, be regularly enrolled in agriculture with strong program of supervised farming, be able to lead group discussions, and receive a majority vote of members of the chapter.

State officers are making plans for a state corn show to be held with the annual state meeting at the college agriculture next fall to select exhibits to take to the national convention at Kansas City.

CIVIC LEADER DEAD

Leo P. Fox, 61, prominent Chilton attorney, died unexpectedly at his home yesterday afternoon. He was president of the State bank at Chilton and active in local and state organizations.

Chilton Attorney Dies at His Home

Heart Disease Is Fatal to Leo P. Fox, 61, Civic Leader

Chilton—Attorney Leo P. Fox, 61, active in local and state affairs, died unexpectedly at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at his home here from heart disease.

Born in Hollandown, Brown county, March 12, 1876, he was graduated from Valparaiso university in Indiana and taught school for a number of years, serving as Calumet county superintendent from 1900 to 1915. During his teaching, he studied law and opened practice in 1915. He lived in Chilton since his marriage to Pauline Harner in 1913.

He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Catholic Knights, Waukegan club, national, state and county bar associations, president of the State bank of Chilton, and a director in banks at Stockbridge and Greenleaf. He once served as city attorney of Chilton and for 25 years was the state secretary of the Catholic Order of Foresters, holding the post at the time of his death.

Active in politics, he once was a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket.

Survivors are the widow; three sons, Jerome, Milwaukee, Dr. Paul, Chicago, Leo J., Chilton; one daughter, Jeanette, Chilton; one brother, Dr. Michael Fox, Chicago; four sisters, Katherine, Mrs. Joseph Martens and Mrs. Marie Doyle, Los Angeles, Mrs. J. Cronin, River Forest, Ill.

City Council to Study Proposed Bike Ordinance

Owners Would Register Machines Under Suggested Law

Under The Capitol Dome

Post-Crescent Staff Correspondent

Madison—The return of Governor LaFollette to his desk in the executive office after an absence of five weeks should end the doldrums into which the state government has drifted this fall.

For weeks many of the state departments have been operating blindly, while rumors flew about of sweeping changes contemplated by the administration under the reorganization bill passed by the special session of the legislature.

Governor LaFollette has indicated that there will be no wholesale firing, as many state employees have feared, and that changes to be brought about will be brought about slowly.

New Departments, New Jobs
The governor indicated that his attention will be devoted first of all to the organization of the new departments authorized by the recent legislature, the department of commerce, the Wisconsin agricultural authority, an auxiliary of the department of agriculture, the departments of mental hygiene and corrections, and the revamped department of agriculture.

The new agriculture department and the departments of mental hygiene and corrections which will supersede the board of control will come into existence as soon as the governor files a certificate with the secretary of state, for their personnel has already been chosen.

The staffs of the department of commerce and the WAA, however, have yet to be named.

Incidentally, recurring rumors have it that George Kull, secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers association, well known in state business circles and a former Appleton editor, is one of the men whom the governor has in mind for appointment to the $7,000 job as director of the department of commerce.

The governor has announced that his action in organizing the new departments will not be precipitous, but will come only after extended conferences with citizens of the state.

Add Political Gossip
The candidacy of that audacious young man, Speaker Paul R. Alfonsi of Iron county, continued to furnish a topic for political gossip at the capitol this week. Newest report is that Alfonsi has no delusions of the possibility of sitting in the United States senate, but that he is trying to scare the Progressive party big-wigs into rewarding him for his services in the legislature by recalling the manner in which Henry Gunderson, Phil Nelson, and E. M. Rowlands were rewarded with choice capitol places after the legislature adjourned.

Meanwhile Attorney General Orland S. Loomis continues to be successful in placing himself before the public eye, with the intention, it is said, to build himself a following which will one day help him up the ladder and into the United States senate.

Loomis is one of the least spectacular of the Progressive leaders, but month after month keeps busy on a speaking schedule which takes him into more counties and communities and before more voters than any other important figure at the capitol. For the next two weeks, however, his friends say, he will be content to hold his job as attorney general, which is not particularly arduous and gives him plenty of opportunity to get about.

It Pays To Advertise
That idea has evidently been accepted by the men who are running things in the capitol. This year two departments, agriculture and conservation, are spending together $150,000 for advertising the state, while various junkies authorized by vacation seeking legislators are supposed to achieve the same result.

Now comes still another proposal to promote Wisconsin's resources, an official tour of the beauty spots of the state next year. The proposition is presently being boosted by private interests, and probably will be handled in much the same way as the Good Will Tour train which will travel about the east with exhibits of Wisconsin products next spring.

Campus Crusade
For many years the Daily Cardinal, student daily newspaper at the University of Wisconsin, has been known as one of the liveliest collegiate journals in the country.

The paper, under a new management each year, has frequently attracted national attention by its vigorous campaigns, its outspoken opinions in university affairs, and the excellence of its makeup and editorial standards.

Although nominally governed by a board of control which includes a couple of professors, the paper goes its way unfettered by faculty advice. Currently it is loudly protesting against the exploitation of poor students at the university by Madison employers.

Restaurant proprietors and other employers of student help, says the paper, take advantage of the fact that students must work at anything they can get and at whatever wage is offered in order to remain in school, and pay "starvation wages".

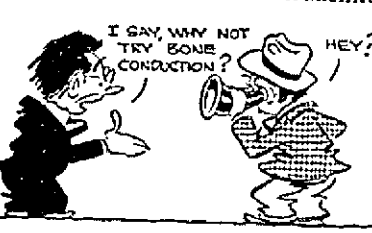

With the help of a new group which calls itself the "League for Liberal Action", the paper is now organizing a boycott against exploiting employers and promising to expose those who violate the social security laws. John Frank, Appleton editor, has been delegated to investigate the alleged neglect of many employers of students to pay the social security assessments.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Los Angeles—Tests at the University of California reveal a message of good cheer for the 10,000,000 deafened persons in the United States. It is that their bones conduct sound as perfectly as the air. Bone conduction, by which a button pressed, to the head transmits sound vibrations directly to the skull, has come into wide use for the hard-of-hearing in the last three years.

Because the method is so new, says N. A. Watson of California in the Journal of Scientific Instruments, there has been no comparison of bone conduction with air. He made tests on normal hearings.

He finds that "the hearing of speech by bone conduction may attain as high a degree of perfection as that attained by the more usual method of air conduction."

The bones of the ear vibrate around and past all parts of the ear except the inner sac where the nerve endings pick up the sounds. If the cause of poor hearing is in parts other than this sac, the bone detour may give a very good substitute for ordinary hearing.

NEW JELLY CLEARS STUFFED-UP NOSE LIKE MAGIC

Contains Medications Prescribed by Big City Specialists. Carries Way Back into Nose for More Thorough Relief.

If you've got a mean head cold, or catarrh, and your nose feels all "stuffed up", don't waste your time with make-shifts. Get real relief—quick and long-lasting—that the new Listerine Nose Jelly offers. Its basic medications are exactly those used by big city specialists.

Users say Listerine Nose Jelly medicates more thoroughly than drops, because it reaches further back in the nose and stays so long longer in the affected area. It medicates more thoroughly than oil jellies because it gets better contact with inflamed areas and swollen passages that keep pus, mucus and bacteria from being discharged.

Listerine Nose Jelly mixes and becomes a part of Nature's mucus secretions, which are farther in character. Therefore it soothes swelling and gets wider contact, reducing the inflammation, and shooting fresh aromatic up in the nose to clear the head. Don't clear the head. Don't clear the head. Don't clear the head.

'NAIL' THAT COLD!

Check It Fast With This Four-Way Treatment!

Treat a cold to end it, not to coddle it! Many a cold lightly treated turns into something worse. Hit a cold "where it lives"—in the system! That means to take an internal treatment. Hit it with a cold medicine, not with a preparation good for all kinds of ailments. Groves' Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are the treatment you want. Made for Colds and Colds Alone! First of all, they are cold tablets, made expressly for colds. Second, they are internal medication and of fourfold effect. Here's what they do: First, they open the bowels. Second, they check the infection in the system. Third, they relieve the headache and fever. Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack. Bromo Quinine tablets are nothing new or untried. They have been on the market for over 40 years and have proven their worth. Be Prudent! Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box. When you feel a cold coming on, don't "monkey around" with half-measures. Go right to your druggist for a package of Groves' Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets). Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used in time, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed you want.

Roosevelt Wants To Solve Problem Of Construction

Administration Hesitates Between Regulation, Encouragement of Business

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Recognition by President Roosevelt that building costs are high and wage rates, too, in the construction industry and that he is not seeking to apportion the blame is a rather significant declaration of administration attitude. Not merely has the president defined, in rather friendly and conciliatory language, the problems of the construction industry, but incidentally the message to Congress is at a variance with a recent letter sent by the president to the Federal commission, which gave the impression that high prices of food products were the results of profiteering.

Taken as a whole—the message to Congress, the speech by Attorney General Cummings in New York on the "Unsolvable Problems of Monopoly," and the behind the scenes activities of Assistant Attorney General Jackson, who wants to be the leader in "busting" and who rode to Florida with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday—it may be said that the Roosevelt administration is hesitating as between further regulation and further encouragement of business.

Mr. Cummings' speech in New York was a careful presentation of the facts of collusion in bidding as the department of justice sees it. The theory back of the address was that competition must be stimulated in order to help the smaller units in business. But that generally is overlooked is that many of the acts of government tend to increase in price to the consumer and that the large efficient units in business, by reason of their volume of sales, are able to keep prices from soaring.

To put it another way, the administration professes great interest in the consumer, but is not prepared as yet to protect him against the consequences of a policy of virtually subsidizing the smaller businesses that cannot compete with the big ones. Instead of free competition versus monopoly, the issue really is becoming one of subsidized versus unsubsidized competition.

Other Steps Needed
It is no doubt difficult for people outside of Washington to follow the maze of administration moves, some of which look toward the improvement of business conditions and others of which must certainly tend toward further demoralization. Thus the message on housing is a constructive document and contains the elements of a big spur in the heavier goods business of the country, where employment can be rapidly absorbed. The steps which are to be taken to encourage the building of small residences are in line with the recommendations of many business men who recently have conferred with the president at his request. In a sense, Mr. Roosevelt is following the advice of business by his message on housing, though there are some phases of the policy that will bear examination and certainly some phases which may lead to unsound practices if not carefully guarded by a thoroughly supervised and honest system of appraisal of real estate.

ROSE FROM RANKS OF ARMY

Strong man with a plan is Cuba's Colonel Fulgencio Batista who rose from the ranks of the army to dominate military and political life of that republic. He is shown watching a crowd of 100,000 who jammed Havana's Tropical Stadium to hear four hours of speeches on the three-year plan.

side source, not even the government. Until, on the other hand, something is done to bring down building costs, the lending will be of little avail. The idea of an annual income for employees in the construction industry, which shall be as large if not larger than that now earned by the irregular fluctuating hourly rate system, is sound on paper, but difficult to put into actual practice. The need for a guaranteed volume of construction is, of course, apparent, but how to organize building so that a certain amount of work is assured every workman is something else again.

The public, however, will derive encouragement from the fact that housing—one of the biggest shortages in America—is given formal consideration by the president in a special message to Congress and that encouragement to heavier goods industries is recognized now as a prerequisite to economic recovery.

Republicans Push Membership Drive In Eighth District

Campaign in Outagamie County Will be Completed Next Month

The Republican membership drive launched recently in Wisconsin for the purpose of getting uniformity in the state setup is rapidly progressing in Outagamie and other counties of the Eighth Congressional district, according to Orville G. Hegner, district chairman.

Douglas county was the first to complete its drive and receive a charter and Outagamie may be second, Hegner said. The drive in the county is expected to be completed before the first of the year and Edward Samp, state chairman, will be invited to the meeting to present the charter.

The membership committee in charge of the drive in Outagamie county is composed of Elmer Honkamp, chairman, Seymour Gmeiner, Fred Heinritz, Mark Catlin, Ray Peterson, John Hantschel, Sydney Ziegenhagen, Roland Kuckuk and Louis Sleeper, Appleton; Mrs. Mary Hanges, Kimberly; Ben Rideout, Black Creek; Mike Mack, Shioleton; Edward Rennie, Kaukauna; B. W. Fargo, Kaukauna; Marvin Babbitt, Seymour; the Rev. A. A. Vissers, Oneida and Emil Diestler, Hortonville.

There were 9,585 votes cast by Republicans of Outagamie county in the last presidential election. Under a new plan activities of the state central and state executive committees are expected to be more fully coordinated.

Chairman Hegner today announced the appointment of a district advisory committee to work with the chairman in laying out work of organizing the district and to see that the national ticket will receive district support in the candidacy of a congressman.

Members of the advisory committee are Seymour Gmeiner and Fred Heinritz, Appleton; C. J. Campbell, Kaukauna; Myron Schwartz, Two Rivers; Charles Kuchenberg, Marinette; and H. A. Barkhausen, Green Bay.

COMMITTEE TO MEET
Members of the insurance committee of the county board will meet at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse. Usual business will be considered.

States are Passing Buck To Federal Government

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—This month's issue of Fortune reports that of the annual tax bill of twelve billion dollars in this country, the federal kitty gets five billion dollars, the states two and one-half, and 175,000 other government units the remaining $4,500,000,000. Meanwhile, however, the states and all the little political organisms entangled in the nation's fur and duties to the national government, but without any compensation surrender of their taxing authority. State, as well as their subdivisions, have defaulted many of their expensive duties to the national government, passing the tasks along to Mr. Whiskers, with the result that all are now engaged in a scramble for money out of the federal grab-bag, hoping to take out more than they put in, which can't be done indefinitely.

So what? Well, so, instead of bucking into the idea with stealthy proposals such as the seven TVAs and a lot of other legislative things intended to trick the customer, wouldn't it be better if someone, preferably Mr. One himself, should lay it on the line some day that this is no longer a loose and mutually parasitic social club of paper republics, but a nation? I know the stock answer about state rights and the danger of a dictatorship after authority has been concentrated in the national capital, but the states, to preserve their rights, should have preserved and met their responsibilities, which is something that they have not done and can no longer do.

If they really cherished these rights they couldn't have compromised them for handouts from the national treasury and internal services and local improvements. Your rights are proportionate to your duties. If you don't make a decent effort to take care of your kids, the court will take them away and do it for you.

And some states haven't made the effort. Some have, to be sure, but dugged it, and it is impossible to kick them out or discipline the negligent or inefficient members or to declare them incompetent and carry them as wards of the able states. Some states are just tired out.

Government Can Still Operate As Democracy
I can smell a dictator as far as I can hear one over the air, but it does not follow that a national government must be a dictatorship. The president could still be merely that and nothing more, and the congress, although elected from rearranged districts, need be no less representative than it is or has been. Other countries have done all right under national governments without sacrifice of democracy, and moreover, this government, which we still fondly regard as a union of sovereign states, has already encroached so far on the original rights of the members, that a states-righter of a hundred years ago wouldn't recognize it now.

I hear Hoosiers and Suckers and Jayhawks who live and thrive in New York boasting of their undying sentiment and of their clannishness in business, a spirit not entirely unlike that of the race-true, immigrant nazi, but I notice that they never go back to Indiana, Illinois or Kansas, and that they vote in the New York elections and make themselves thoroughly at home. The truth is that any American may be at home in any state, and that state lines and rights are both an illusion and obstruction, and certainly not worth the expense in cost or progress.

Suggests Advisability Of Facing The Question
They exist to preserve political organizations, multiple jobs, graft and inefficiency, and in some cases to provide sanctuaries for tax-dodgers.
But when it comes time to bridge Goose creek or build a high school or make houses wholesale for Mr. Roosevelt's submerged third, all domestic obligations by any honest concept of the states' reason and right to exist, they are entirely willing to let old Sam do it.

Would the national government be more efficient and honest in its

Each Thursday noon, from 12:45 to 1 o'clock, officers of the several Wisconsin farm groups will discuss new developments in farm cooperation, legislative questions of concern to agriculture, consumer problems and other activities of the farm groups.

Cooperating in these problems are the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, Farm bureau, Grange, Farmer's Equity union, Cheese Producers' federation and the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture.

administration of the duties which would be handed over under such an arrangement?

New York, Connecticut and a few other good states would gain little and might lose a little, but in a general comparison the federal government is much better than that of the states and incomparably more honest.

And, anyway, we have been backing into this change for years. I suggest the advisability of facing the entire question.

More Cattle and Fewer Sheep on State Feed Lots

Wisconsin has fewer sheep but a larger number of cattle on feed than a year ago, according to the Wisconsin and United States Department of Agriculture.

With lower cattle prices and more adequate feed supplies than a year ago, cattle feeders in Wisconsin are more active. However, sheep feeders report that sheep prices are too high, and that they do not expect to feed to the usual extent.

For the United States the numbers of both cattle and sheep on feed are greater than a year ago. Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into the corn belt through stockyards markets were about 20 per cent larger in October, but were 10 per cent smaller than in 1935 and only about equal to the 5-year average for October.

The movement of feeder lambs, both from markets and direct, in October this year was considerably larger than in October last year, and the total number of lambs to be fed this season is expected to be considerably larger than last. Present indications are that the number of lambs fed will be larger this season than last in the corn belt states, in Texas, and in Colorado.

"WE PLANNED IT THAT WAY"

It must not be understood that the present business recession is attributable to just one thing any more than it could be possible for anyone to review our present situation, and conclude that the surplus profits or job destruction tax was not an important factor in it.

Nevertheless we may accurately say the recession was shaped up in the spring of 1936 when the President asked congress to pass this measure.

Until this law was passed a substantial portion of corporate profits was plowed back into the maintenance of corporate property every year. This percentage differed widely depending upon the nature of the business. In some instances, as with Mr. Ford, over 95 per cent of all earnings went back into the property.

But the government wanted more taxes. Mr. Roosevelt had been a great and incautious spender. He came to the crossing of the Rubicon. If he forced the corporations to pay the stockholders everything they earned the government could increase its income. Thus he snatched the means of employment out of hundreds of thousands of hands.

It was either spend the money for more governmental activity or spend the money on rebuilding industrial plants and refurbishing them with the very latest word in improved machinery. The workers had to take second place for the politicians. It was purely a scuffle between the politicians and the workers for the money. The politicians, as usual, won. They even deluded certain labor leaders into rounding up votes for them.

But that was not the only result. In addition there was a harm and a benefit. The harm was in the creation by excessive and unusual payment of dividends to stockholders of a thoroughly artificial condition. The stockholders who received the money did not go in for building additions and buying machinery. They, scattered all over the country, became money-minded and figured with satisfaction upon a continuance of high dividends. And therefore they bought more stocks. And that swelled the stock market up, thus creating another very artificial condition.

But it would be unwise to forget the benefit. The benefit came in the fall of 1936. With plentiful dividends flowing out and an artificial condition of prosperity appearing the election was all that Mr. Roosevelt could ask.

The trouble is that when there is music and gaiety in the front parlor you never know exactly how the house is living unless you go through the rest of the rooms. There may be gaiety in one section that forces grim necessity upon another.

The politicians got the money for the government and got the election for themselves.

And now the tens of thousands are without the jobs.

More accurately than you think may it be said, "We planned it that way."

A WISCONSIN CITY LEARNS A LESSON

Wisconsin Rapids has had the not unusual experience of a government going into business.

It erected a building for a small manufacturing plant largely upon the argument that it would thus provide employment to some of its people.

The estimated cost was $18,000. The final cost was $28,000. In this respect only did Wisconsin Rapids play in good fortune. Ordinarily when the public treasury is to be tapped the estimate can be depended upon to be but 30 to 40 per cent of the true cost.

During the first year of operation of this plant the building was provided scot-free with light and power included. Thereafter the company agreed to pay for the light and power with the understanding that rent at $125.00 per month would start a year later in September, 1936. But when 1936 arrived and the rent became due its payment was postponed another year. Although three months of that new year have passed no rent has been paid but the company has been gracious enough to pay light and power bills.

What is the city going to do about it? The problem is just the same as when the building was erected. As soon as the first $18,000 was spent on a venture which the city really didn't understand at all it was caught in the bear trap. Of course it had to spend $10,000 more to "save" the $18,000. It didn't even understand then that had it let the $18,000 go it would have been better off.

But in order to "save" the $28,000 finally expended it gave rent free and added free light and power. The city always got something in return, however. That something was a promise that at some time in the future things would be better.

Now the company admits that its distance from the market and the inefficiency of the plant make competitive manufacturing difficult in its line at Wisconsin Rapids.

When this venture was undertaken the city does not seem to have ever asked itself what ultimate value to a community is a plant that cannot erect its own building or secure private means to that end. Today it appreciates that such a plant is a burden and not an asset.

The government in business is like a two-year-old lost in the woods. It seldom expends money for practical reasons, almost always for purely emotional and what may be called political reasons, that is, reasons partaking of pull and votes, campaigns and corruption, but having little to do with experience or reality.

Men quite often make mistakes and pay for them, but, anxious as individuals will be the country over to build $28,000 plants for rental purposes they will look into the practical side of the proposition before they spend their money and learn what the city only learns after the money is gone.

THE "YELLOW PERIL" BECOMES A BROTHER

Since Julius Caesar fed the multitude with corn and entertained them in the Forum, stunts and parades have ranked as number 1 on every tyrant's program. That is why dictators seek excuses for creating gala days, and having found such an excuse even its anniversary is celebrated.

Dr. Goebbels, German minister of propaganda, spoke feelingly of those marvelous people known as the Japs while Germany was celebrating the first anniversary of the Berlin-Tokyo pact against Communism.

A true prophet of every dictator boasts his friends to the skies and cannot find a pit deep enough in which to consign his enemies.

The German language was exhausted in praise of Japan. Among other things Dr. Goebbels said that "Germany and Japan have great blood and are bound together in everlasting friendship by common political and cultural traditions."

Searching for such cultural traditions as may bind the Japs and the Germans we have been unable to discover anything within the last 40 years to sustain the new idea, but on the contrary have found the Germans and the Japs at each other's throats, actually at war and commonly threatening war.

When Russia declared war against Japan 35 years ago the German Kaiser sent the following dispatch to all his representatives:

"For the instruction of all my diplomatic functionaries: This will be the decisive battle between the two religions of Christianity and Buddhism, between western civilization and eastern semi-civilization. It will be the battle which I propheticly delineated in my painting wherein all Europe acting as the united states of Europe, was to assemble under German leadership and defend, as we are bound to do, our most precious possessions. "It is instinct which implants in Japanese bosoms the same feeling towards us which Caesar had towards Casca, and Wallenstein towards Butler. Therefore, our sympathies are rightly with Russia. The future of Russia, and indirectly of Europe, is at stake. I know well that we shall one day have to fight to the death with Japan and I am making my preparation to that end."

Now let us inquire of the Japanese attitude toward "the cultural traditions between the two nations." In 1914 when the World war broke out Germany shortly found herself driven off the seas and completely surrounded on land by the armies of her enemies. In that situation the Japanese brought their marines under heavy steam over to the Asiatic mainland and looted the Germans of everything they had there including some important possessions. When the war was concluded and Germany, bled white, staggered around looking for sustenance the books fail to disclose any friendly act by Japan in recognition of the close ties of blood that bound it to Germany. Everlasting friendship! Common political and cultural traditions! And yet, but recently, hatred and attack and the loud insult from Berlin of "Yellow Peril."

There are ties today between Germany and Japan but their nature and their occasion and their purpose are not spoken of by Dr. Goebbels.

HOW ARE THEY AS STUDENTS?

With the alumni getting into the controversy over the coaching set-up at Ann Arbor, there is a tendency to neglect the circumstance which five freshmen, whom zealous old grads had gathered together for a foot ball renaissance.

The more we ponder the status of these youths, one of whom was receiving all of $8 a week for presumptive services to stay in school, the more we lean to a feeling that the test which applies to students generally is field enough for the athletes among them: Are they smart enough to make their scholastic grades? Thousands of students in the country's colleges are recipients of one or another form of aid, happens to be an athlete, is not clear. Coach Gembs at Wayne looks wistfully at the school's band, made up of splendid musi-

APPLETON POST-CRESCENT

THE Sunday papers had large quantities of advertising from the steamship companies and travel people who would like to whisk you off to tropical climates . . . coming just as the first real blast of winter struck us, I am very much in favor of being whisked . . . the trick is to convince the boss that the paper needs to investigate conditions among tourists in Florida, Texas, Louisiana, California and Hawaii . . . not to mention, of course, Cuba, Mexico, the West Indies and possibly some South American points . . . the next trick is to convince the boss that I ought to do the investigating (with salary and expenses) and submit reports at intervals frequent enough to keep him convinced that I am alive . . . these, my friends, are real tricks and, as the song goes, are nice work if you can get it . . . on the other hand, maybe I had better skip the ideas and then HE'D decide to investigate conditions among the tourists in such places as I have mentioned . . .

Every time I have to crawl out of bed on a cold morning I get ideas like this.

It is easy to understand why New York newspapermen are plugging Fordham for the Rose Bowl game. Guess who goes to California if Fordham is invited.

But I suspect that the radio announcers would prefer Pitt or Alabama. The names on the Fordham team are enough to make any announcer break down and cry in his microphone.

Reminding me that one of the dullest games to be heard over the radio this year was the Army-Navy affair. Despite the presence of Ted Husing (whose too-too expertise gets on my nerves after a time), the broadcast was great for inducing sleep. And it was supposed to be the banner game of the year.

One of the most exciting, meanwhile, was the unheralded U.C.L.A.-Missouri game that produced more microphone excitement than any I have heard in many a moon.

Well, the Packers can blame it on either the refined eastern atmosphere or the train ride. Or the fact that the opposition can be very, very tough. Anyway, now comes the rebuilding for next year. And the Packers won't have to play in the All-Star game, which gives them a better opportunity in 1938.

Dropping the last two games is not hard to understand in the case of the Packers—particularly the last game. Losing one to the Bears is perfectly understandable. It was the All-Star game and the first one the boys dropped to the Cardinals that put the hex on this year's activities.

The Green Bay people are adding seats enough to City stadium to bring it up to 24,000 capacity. Now, if they will please to provide some way of getting in and out of the stands without breaking a rib, we will all be very appreciative.

I love that little girl who's named for me;
 I love her gaze of innocent surprise,
 Her childish voice, with its quick sympathy:
 The thought of me she holds deep in her eyes.

She is a sunny little miss of eight,
 Who smiles beneath untrodden skies, and knows
 A panacea for all unkind fate—
 Her mother's kiss will cure her childish woes.

I love that little girl who's named for me,
 Her helpful hands, her unlined, thoughtful

JOINT DOES NOT INJURE KIDNEYS

Every little while a correspondent asks whether riding a motorcycle or a motorcycle side car or rumbly seat is injurious to the kidneys. Railroad men often inquire whether train riding is not hard on the kidneys. Drivers of tractors and plows and harvesters and other farm machines commonly harbor the same obsession.

Perhaps such persons more frequently suffer from lame back than do others, and thanks to the all-gay and testimonial literature of the gay nineties a good many laymen still imagine kidney trouble manifests itself by pain in the back. Only rarely is backache, lame back or pain in the back due to any kidney trouble, and only rarely does a person with kidney disease have backache or pain in the back. Probably the bulk of nostrums purporting to be good for kidney trouble were consumed by gullible folk with nothing wrong with their kidneys—and still are for that matter.

Exercise necessarily increases the excretion of urine by the kidneys. The kidneys, as well as the lungs, must work harder, to remove such by-products of combustion of fuel in the muscles as water, uric acid, urea, etc. In a person unaccustomed to vigorous exercise by proper training or one who engages in violent exercise (play or work) these by-products of oxidation in the muscles are likely to show in the urine. Too often misinformed folk interpret this perfectly natural manifestation as evidence of "uric acid" or "rheumatism" or whatever of the kind happens to suggest.

Albumen is normally present in the urine, the only a trace which is scarcely sufficient to show in the standard chemical test for albumen. For a short time following vigorous or violent exercise, say a basketball game or a football game, there is an increased amount of albumen present, a distinct "trace" as shown by the standard test, and this has been interpreted as a nephritis lasting for a few hours or days, sometimes for a week, depending on the severity of the exertion and the condition of the individual, whether the individual has been properly trained. The amount of albumen and presumably the degree of nephritis is greater if the exertion is associated with great anxiety or excitement in an "all-important" contest. For example basketball players may show no albumen after a practice game but a distinct trace after a match game.

Marathon runners almost invariably have albumen in the urine after a race and sometimes blood cells too.

Life insurance examiners sometimes fail to give this fact due consideration when they detect a trace of albumen in the urine.

Notice, if you please, that this trace of albumen is the effect of violent or excessive effort or strain and not due to ordinary work, play or exercise.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Ten Bucks for a Book

Some time ago you recommended a book for a lay person to have in his home—I think it cost $10. (C.L.)

Answer—Can't recall having done so. Perhaps I recommended Rosenau's "Preventive Medicine and Hygiene," published by Appleton. It is a ten dollar book. Look it over in the public library and then decide whether you wish to invest ten simoleons in it. It is one of the few books I have bought for my own library that I consider worth the price.

Vegetables
 Please send me a list of vegetables which are good kidney stimulants. Also a list which are good for the liver. (J. M.)

Answer—Any vegetables you please to select are as good on one list as they are on the other. All vegetables are rather good for kidneys and liver.

Take Care of Your Dogs
 Should I discard my arch supports at once or gradually taper off? You advised they are not good for weak feet. (Mrs. H. W. E.)

Answer—Not nowing how long you have depended on them for support, I should say, taper off, go half an hour longer without them each day. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and inclose ten cents coin for booklet "Care of the Feet."

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. until noon; from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m., from 6 to 8 p. m., and from 10 p. m. until midnight.

Fast thinking may save many a ticklish situation this day. Keep mentally alert, for more than one person may be ready to take advantage of you. Money may come from unexpected source this day. Conditions being suspicious for sudden increases in personal pecuniary resources. Changes in business methods, policies, or plans may be advantageously made, providing the right amount of thought has been given to the possibilities of their final outcome. Be cautious in putting any theory into actual practice this day, for some factor relating to its working out successfully may have been overlooked.

Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose love affairs are progressing favorably, should remember, if tempted to offer advice or regulate someone else's problems, that at times too many cooks usually result in a lot of dissatisfaction and hard feelings.

If a woman and December 1 is your birthday, a cheerful optimistic disposition may make you a general favorite. You are apt to display a great amount of originality in any work you do. An inventive faculty is likely to help you solve many complicated domestic or business problems, by your finding simple solutions for them.

You should have no difficulty in making money, especially if you engage in a business of your own. Through a specialty shop, beauty parlor, restaurant, school, dramatic work, the concert platform or writing you may find the right medium through which your self-expression will result in profitable recognition. Matrimonially you ought to do exceptionally well.

The child born on December 1 can be generally easily persuaded to do things, which it will balk at if it feels it is being forced to do something against its will. This youngster may not have very much to say to strangers, but it usually absorbs plenty.

If a man and December 1 is your natal day, your greatest weakness may be that you trust too much to other people to look out for your interests. You may be too easily imposed upon. If you do things yourself they will be done right. In the world of the theatre, the pulpit, brokering, selling, building, contracting, painting, inventing, manufacturing or authorship fame and money may come to you.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

New York — It was with a sobering shock that I walked into the studio of an artist the other night. It was a little after midnight and his face seemed strained when he opened the door. We went back into the studio proper, a great lighted room done in plum and chromium fixtures. Suddenly he burst into tears and fell face down across a divan. Horrible sobs racked his body. I was stunned, and could only stand there, speechless, and stare like a fool.

Then he got up and dragged a forearm across his face. The hot cheeks, I was cursing down his man weep you can not understand how thoroughly and altogether horrible the experience can be. He started to explain and the sobs came again.

For a few moments he wept uncontrollably, and I wished a thousand times I hadn't come in just then. It was terribly embarrassing. Eventually he was able to shake some of it off. Suddenly he lifted his head. "I know I'm a fool, but I can't help it. My girl just gave me the air. She's going to be married."

Again paroxysms of sobs shook him and beat him until he was a sodden wretch, helpless and down. I tried to mumble the consolation applicable to such an emergency but everything I thought of seemed stupid and out of order. Finally my leaden senses told me what to do. I reached for my hat and closed the door softly as I went out.

Johnny Nuisance, unfortunately, has escaped his obscurity and is back at his old trade of misbehavior once more. Johnny is the lad who used to earn his living by stealing tips from waitresses.

His program was simple. He simply wandered through restaurants, as if looking for people, and as a customer would rise Johnny would drift by that table, sit down, and pocket the tip before the waitress could get back. Then he would shift his position, gathering other stray dimes.

Unfortunately, for him, however, one waitress thus fleeced turned out to be a girl of a cop. The cop could get extremely tough when- ever the occasion demanded it. Earning of this, he ambushed Johnny one day in front of a large restaurant in 43rd street. He gave Johnny some extremely rude cuffs about the head and then delivered the final humiliation.

"How much money you got?" he demanded. "About $4" wept Johnny. "Then let's have it,"

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—After 14 years of illegal parking, Mrs. Daniel C. Roper, wife of the secretary of commerce, got a traffic ticket and it brought on a class-A investigation.

It is no trivial affair to pin a traffic ticket on the automobile of a cabinet member, not to mention the automobiles of a goodly number of second string government staffers. The family of Officer W. B. Kuhns, who gave Mrs. Roper the ticket, likely enough have had a day or two of deep concern.

Mrs. Roper said that 20 years she had been shopping at a certain market and for the past 14 years had been parking her car "when-ever possible" in a certain driveway. It had been illegal for a long time in Washington—as in most other places—to block driveways, but Mrs. Roper said she didn't know it was illegal. Besides, she said the farmers who used the driveway usually drove their trucks to the rear of the market early and left them there all day.

Should Know Better

When Officer Kuhns pinned a ticket on Mrs. Roper's car, he knew that the car was the car of someone almost equally important. Cars that rate high in the government always get the low numbers from the city license clerk.

Most officers will tell you—in the neighborhood privacy of a ride home together on a bus—that any officer who tags a car bearing a low license number brings news in better. It always brings trouble. It nearly always makes news in the papers, and long after the incident is forgotten it will be remembered that the officer tagged a cabinet car.

After the story got into the papers, Mrs. Roper insisted that she wasn't concerned about the ticket but that the precinct captain and Officer Kuhns were discourteous to her when she went in to get an explanation of why a ticket had been put on her car. The captain said he wasn't discourteous and so did Officer Kuhns.

Reason For Exemption

His fellow workers no doubt have already told Kuhns he was not discreet. He said afterward that when Mrs. Roper accosted him he replied: "Yes, ma'am, I know you." She said she also added words to the effect that she would have to pay a fine, just like anybody else, but Officer Kuhns said he didn't go that far.

Members of congress can't be arrested, nor their cars tagged effectively, but the same rules don't apply—in law—to administrative officials. There is historic reason for exempting law-makers. Time was in olden days that kings could sling unruly members of parliament into the cooler to put an end to opposition to the king's "must" legislation. So there are rules against any such tactics nowadays.

The congressmen stretch their prerogatives from time to time. When a local newspaper got interested in the problem a few months ago it dug up all sorts of traffic tickets marked "Senator so-and-so" to be telephoned when this comes up to "attention Representative this-and-that." Some bore the simple notations: "Friend of Senator Goofus."

It hasn't been decided yet what will happen to Officer Kuhns. Probably nothing. But an officer can't involve the whole of the administration in a "look-into-this" investigation and expect them to smile sweetly.

Egyptian Wasteland May Become Oil Field

Cairo—Hitherto useless stretches of wasteland, known as Egypt's "Western Desert," shortly may be sprinkled with rich oil fields.

According to an official government announcement, such coveted rights to dig for oil of the desert, that starts at Cairo and reaches into the heart of Central Africa have been granted to a British company and an American company. The firms were not named in the announcement.

Experts are confident that they are reported to have found huge sums for the privilege of prospecting. They are sure that untold wealth will be found beneath the scorching sands.

The Western Desert is not all flat sand, as is commonly supposed. There are also gravel flats, limestone outcrops, clay pans, and regular lines of sand dunes.

Old Pine Tree Yields Wood for 12 Coffins

Albuquerque, N. M. — The "old pine tree" that was cut down near here recently had enough wood in it to make "coffins of pine" for a chorus of hillbilly singers.

Timber experts, who examined a cross section of the trunk, estimated that the tree was "born" about the time the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth. They counted 311 annual rings.

The tree, one of the largest in the mountain forests east of here, produced 880 board feet of timber—enough for at least 12 coffins.

Tame Crow Has Become Guardian of Barnyard

South Harwich, Mass. — Hazel Hickerson has an efficient "watch-crow" to guard her farm.

Jim, a tame crow, recently drove off a hungry hawk about to attack several baby turkeys.

The bird's favorite trick is retrieving sticks and stones thrown for it to chase. Wasday is Jim's fun day. It picks clothsops off the line and apparently enjoys seeing the clothes fall to the ground.

growled the cop. . . . Wherefore the money was changed into dimes, and Johnny, with the cop waving his big club suggestively, went meekly into the restaurant and distributed it among the aproned pretties until every cent was gone.

"Now gim" followed the cop, glint in him another, extremely blunt boot in the pants. Johnny hasn't been glimpsed in that sector since.

Consumption of Steel Is Higher Than Production

Difference Being Supplied From Accumulated Stocks

November steel buying has been at a rate between 10 and 15 per cent lower than in October, with practically all producers meeting about the same conditions. Much of the current lack of buying is attributed to existence of sufficient inventories in the hands of consumers to meet present reduced demands for their products, says steel.

In the automotive field this appears less evident than in others, but limited production of cars has cut deeply into requirements. Some miscellaneous consumers have been buying at a fair rate and had railroad and automotive needs been at the usual rate for this time of year total steel sales would have been at practically a normal rate, in the opinion of many steelmakers. It has been apparent for some time that steel consumption has been proceeding at a much better rate than production, the difference being supplied from stocks accumulated during the summer and early fall.

Declines 3.5 Points

With the Thanksgiving day holiday causing some weakness in the national steelworks, operating rate last week declined 3.5 per cent. There was some increase of production in a few centers, caused by accumulation of small orders but this was not sufficient to overcome the general curtailment. At Chicago the rate increased 2.5 points to 30 per cent, at Cleveland 13 points to 28 per cent, at Cincinnati 4 points to 29 and at St. Louis 5.8 per cent to 20.6. Birmingham continued without change at 54 per cent for the fourth week. Pittsburgh lost 7 points to 27, Eastern Pennsylvania 8 points to 27, Youngstown 5 points to 37, Wheeling 8 points to 35, Buffalo 7 points to 21, New England 3 points to 27 and Detroit 12 points to 39.

Automobile production fell sharply last week to 59,405, with some producers closing Wednesday night for the week. General Motors assembled 24,075 units, compared with 40,000 the week before; Chrysler 16,020, compared with 26,700 the previous week; Ford 7999 against 11,350 compared with 14,632. Ford apparently has picked up production difficulties and assemblies last week were close to 2500 daily.

Await Rate Decision

Railroads continue to contribute some important tonnages to the market, though delay until the matter of increased rates is settled has reduced the volume of buying below what their needs would normally bring out. Rail tonnage recently placed has benefited Birmingham and Colorado mills while those in the Pittsburgh and Chicago districts have received little benefit. Withdrawal of an inquiry for 500 cars by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western places about 12,000 cars on the deferred list, awaiting rate decision. Rail and car tonnages will give mills relatively little occupation before the first of the year, though some rails will be rolled at once.

Some plate tonnage is in prospect in the East for shipbuilding, a Standard Oil company considering bids on one to four tankers and the war department asking bids on a seagoing dredge, which will require 1800 tons of plates. These are in addition to the steel required for two battleships for the navy.

Situation May Change

Although scrap prices are largely nominal in the absence of actual sales and quotations continue to settle sentiment is developing that indicates the situation may change within a short time. Current prices are tending downward to lay down supplies for higher prices and the export situation is giving some strength along the Atlantic seaboard. While tonnage buying is almost non-existent an occasional purchase indicates that not all melters have large stockpiles or that the present level promises a profit on material accumulated now.

GREATEST STRUCTURE EVER BUILT BY HUMAN HANDS

A man-made giant becomes a dwarf beside nature's rugged mountains and canyons. Mighty Boulder Dam, greatest structure ever built by human hands, appears tiny indeed nestled in Black Canyon of the Colorado river. Behind its 726-foot wall has formed Lake Mead, 115 miles long and containing 15,250,000 acre-feet of water, enough to cover West Virginia a foot deep. Capacity of the lake is 39,500,000 acre-feet.

"Decline in Steel's composite price of steelmaking scrap continues to show a slower rate, last week reaching $12.75, which is 33 cents below the preceding, the second consecutive drop of that amount. Chicago and Pittsburgh markets declined 50 cents while prices in the East were nominally unchanged. The composite has reached the same level as in the first week of July, 1936. The iron and steel composite is four cents lower, at $38.80, resulting from the scrap decline. The finished steel composite is steady at $61.70.

Marjorie's first featured role—in "Second Honey-moon"—all but stole the show from Tyrone Power and Loretta Young. . . . So 20th Century cancelled her proposed personal appearance at Louisville and stuck her instead into one of three leading roles in "Sally, Irene and Mary." . . . As Mary, Marjorie has to dance, and the other day she was practicing energetically with Geneva Sawyer, the pretty ex-chorine who teaches steps. . . . She looked like an apple, too, especially for a girl who once insisted she couldn't dance. . . . And that's the point: When Marjorie got a stock contract she saw how many girls like her were used in the chorus lines—and forever overlooked. . . . So she was so sure she couldn't dance that Twentieth had to give her a few breaks in the acting line, just to get its money's worth. . . . And this Weaver girl won a beauty contest, too!

Furnace at Gardner Dam

So Scouts Won't Shiver

For the comfort of winter campers, a furnace is being installed in the largest of the Camp Miner buildings at Gardner Dam, Walter Dixon, scout executive, said yesterday.

The Boy Scout winter camp will be held at Gardner Dam Dec. 28-31 and more than 35 youths are expected to go up for that period. Skiing, skating and other winter sports will be featured.

A group of scouts will travel to the camp this weekend, Dixon said, to finish bringing in the winter supply of wood.

Turkeys Visit Classes;

Pupils Have Field Day

Youngsters of the second and third grades at Washington school had a great time Wednesday when an Appleton meat dealer transferred his window display of two large turkeys to the classroom. The birds were studied at close range by pupils who later drew pictures of the gobblers. Papers also were written by the children as part of the project. Miss Catherine Bachmann is the teacher.

Undernourished Children Drink Milk on the Jaces

There will be 200 undernourished grade school children, and probably will be more before the year's out, who are watching for the milk wagon the morning of each school day.

That wagon brings them each a bottle of milk, pure, strengthening milk that builds their bodies and furnishes a pleasant pause in the day's routine.

The deliveries started yesterday and marked the beginning of another year's project sponsored by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Mary Orbison, school nurse, indicates the children in need of the milk and the Jaces see that they get it. Last year they spent $250 for this cause and this year they figure the cost will mount to about $450.

With the exception of the Franklin school, where the children's mothers have banded together and take care of the matter themselves, the milk wagons roll up each morning to each public grade school in the city.

And the Blend of Skelly Gasoline is Changed to Give Both FAST STARTS AND LONG MILEAGE

No Matter What the Temperature

HOW did your car start this morning? Promptly and smoothly—or did you grind and grind with the starter —"choke" until you flooded the carburetor? These cold days are a test of the gasoline you use!

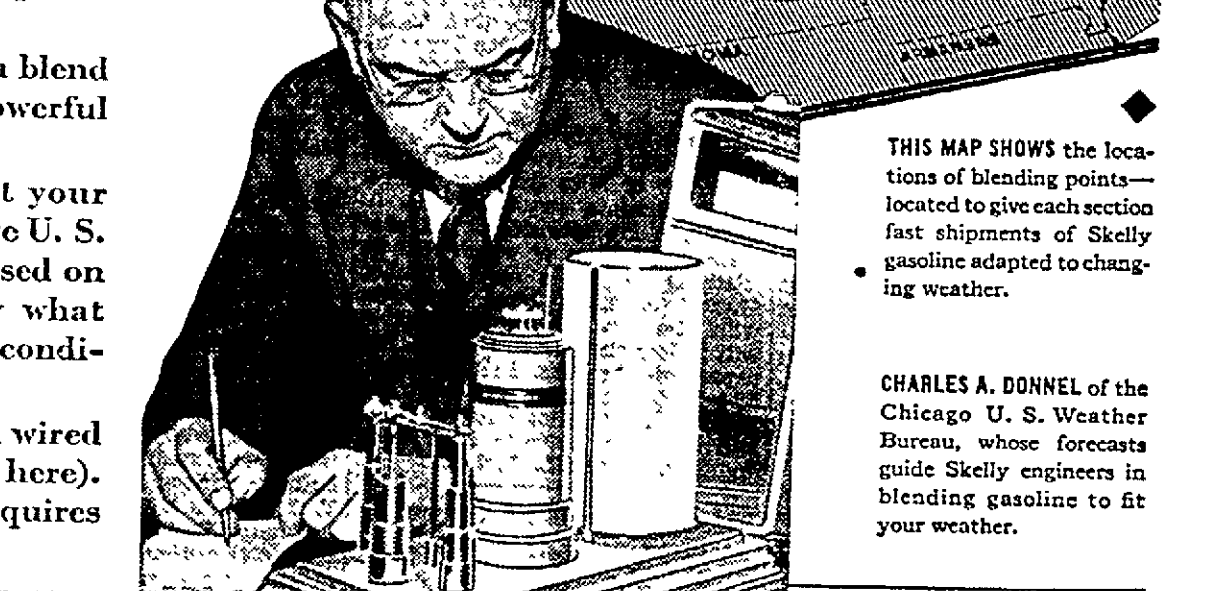

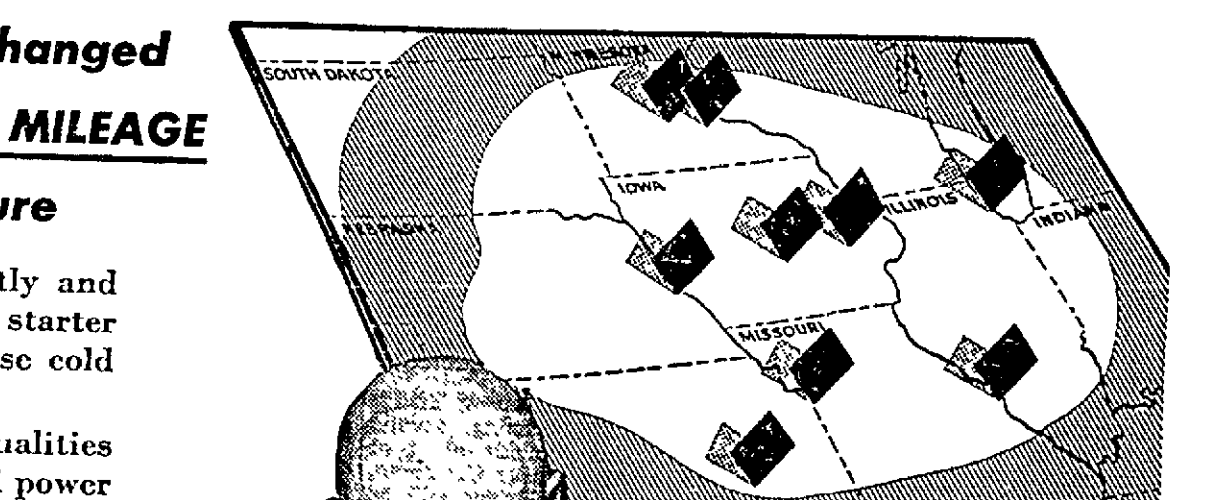

Unless it is rich in quick-firing, fast-starting qualities you're in for trouble. But you also need full-bodied power for long mileage.

Skelly gasoline gives you both—at all times. It is a blend of light, natural gasoline for quick-starting and powerful regular refinery gasoline for mileage.

And this blend is scientifically controlled to fit your changing weather conditions. Skelly engineers receive U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts for each section. Then based on Bureau of Standards data, they determine exactly what blend will perform best under prevailing weather conditions in each section.

The formula for gasoline to fit your weather is then wired to the nearest blending point (as shown on the map here). And fast shipments of the blend that your weather requires are made to Skelly dealers in your section.

Try this gasoline that's adapted to your weather conditions, today. You'll end starting trouble—yet get full mileage. And you'll like the friendly, courteous service you'll find at all Skelly stations.

THIS MAP SHOWS the locations of blending points—located to give each section fast shipments of Skelly gasoline adapted to changing weather.

Two Bazaars Will be Held Wednesday

TWO church groups will sponsor their annual Christmas sales and bazaars Wednesday. Zion Lutheran Mission society will hold its annual Christmas sale beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and continuing all day in the parish school. Dinner will be served from 11 to 1 and supper from 5 to 7 o'clock, and lunches will be served at all hours. The general committee is headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman, chairman. Mrs. Anna Staedt and Mrs. Pauline Buchholz, assistants.

Mrs. Bertha Reetz will be chairman of the kitchen committee. Mrs. Blanche Brinkman and Mrs. Anna Staedt will assist, and Mrs. Effie Buske will be dining room chairman. The candy booth will be under the direction of Mrs. Ida Braeger and Mrs. Mary Enrich, the parcel post will be directed by Mrs. Elsie Stecker and Mrs. Marie Ecker, and the Christmas tree will be arranged by Mrs. Elsie Arnold and Mrs. Elda Tock. Mrs. Lillian Wheeler will be in charge of fancy work and the reception committee will include Mrs. Emma Buth, Mrs. Buchholz and Mrs. Mabel Sager.

St. Matthew Ladies Aid society will sponsor its annual bazaar Wednesday in the church basement. Mrs. A. D. Boelter is chairman and her committees include Mrs. Albert Schultz, kitchen; Mrs. Roland Wuerger, dining room; Mrs. Arnold Lopus, ice cream; Mrs. B. J. Zuehlke, fancy work; Mrs. H. Kruecker, aprons; Mrs. Arthur Werner, candy; Mrs. Oscar Radtke, Christmas tree.

A plate dinner will be served from 11 to 2 o'clock and supper from 5 to 7, and lunches will be available all day.

A bazaar and lunch will follow the meeting of Social Aid of Emmanuel Evangelical church at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Marvin Babel will be leader and there will be a Christmas program and business meeting before the bazaar. Members and their friends are invited to attend.

Mrs. Theodore Utschig and Mrs. Gordon Schultze are co-chairmen for the social hour and the committee includes Mrs. Ed Hesse, Mrs. G. H. Blum, Mrs. Nick Zylstra, Mrs. E. Bernhardt, Mrs. Ralph Zachow, Mrs. Milton Luebke, Mrs. William Raddatz, and Miss Nettie Demuth.

Parties

Twenty guests were entertained at a turkey dinner and reception Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer, Kimberly, in honor of their thirty-third wedding anniversary. The table was decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haemister, Harold and Dorothy Haemister, Harry and Joann Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Daelke, Jean Daelke, Mrs. George Breitrick, William Stulp, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sachs, Wesley, Vernon and Arlene Sachs, Seymour; Gottlieb Meyer and Mabel Meyer, Kimberly.

Active and pledges of the Lawrence college chapter of Kappa Delta sorority entertained a buffet supper Monday night in their chapter rooms at the Pan-Hellenic house in honor of the birthday anniversary of one of their members, Miss Alyce Jane De Long, Appleton.

Mrs. Carleton Saecker and Mrs. Guy W. Carlson will entertain at a tea Saturday afternoon at the latter's home for Mrs. A. N. Steinberg, Atlanta, Ga., who is visiting here at the home of her sister, Mrs. Huber Pelkey, and for Mrs. Cola Parker, who moved here recently from New York City.

Miss Geraldine Dillon entertained at a midnight lunch Saturday night at her home at 615 N. Bateman street after the Russell Sage formal. Her guests were Miss Anna Schmidt, James Quinn, Miss Anna Matson, Kenneth Buesing, Miss Betty Bell, John Rosen, Miss Florentine Zuelke, John Joseph, Miss Mary Strong, Scottie MacDonald, and Robert Furstenberg.

A group of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Nagreen, 719 S. Memorial drive, Saturday evening to help Mrs. Edith Nagreen, Hortonville, celebrate her birthday anniversary. Dancing provided entertainment. The guests included Mrs. Edith Nagreen, Dorothy, Grace and Vernon Nagreen, Mrs. Grace Lamb, Beulah, Edith, Arthur and Francis Lamb, Elmer Clark, Miss L. Jandrey, Miss E. Castellion, Francis Castellion, Mr. and Mrs. William Klein, Mr. and Mrs. M. Birmingham, Hortonville, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schauman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schauman, town of Hortonville, Bernice Spang, Marcella Bayer, Menasha; William, Vernon, and Hallie Nagreen, Neenah; Mrs. Harriet Bowerman, Lecman; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Nagreen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Theisen, Evelyn Grassl, Alvin Barnette, Lucille Peins, Gordon Zuehlke, Violet Nagreen, Roy Raess, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Doerfler, Appleton.

Betty Ann Hamerster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamerster, 908 N. Durkee street entertained 16 guests Saturday afternoon in honor of her eighth birthday anniversary. Those present were Vivian De Wall, Helen Hamerster, Robert, Dorothy and Carl Mathison, son, Betty Ann Broehm, Donna Jean Woepse, Cordell and Ethel Glawe, Alice Palmerienke, Nancy Koltzke, Joyce and Janice Metcalf, Carol Jean Heller, Cleo Roemer and Elaine Kenyon. Assisting Mrs. Hamerster were Mrs. Al Broehm, Mrs. Ted Glawe and Mrs. John Mathison.

Relatives and friends were entertained at a schafkopf party Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muelemans, at Chicago.

BETROTHED

Chicago will be the future home of Miss Betty Nolan, above, following her marriage on New Year's day to Robert Gerald R. Scherke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Scherke, Lake Winnebago. Miss Nolan's engagement has been announced by her mother, Mrs. H. T. Nolan, 1105 N. Superior street.

Reveals Engagement Of Miss Betty Nolan

Mrs. H. T. Nolan, 1105 N. Superior street, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Betty, to Robert Gerald R. Scherke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Scherke, Lake Winnebago. The wedding will take place on New Year's day.

Miss Nolan attended Lawrence college for three years and Mr. Scherke attended the University of Iowa. The latter is employed with the Household Finance company in Chicago where he and his bride-to-be will make their home.

Fortnightly Club to Hear Helen Linley

HELEN LAFLIN LINLEY, Milwaukee, will speak on "The Psalms and Their Legends" at the guest day meeting of the Fortnightly club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. F. Mielke, E. River drive. Assisting Mrs. Mielke as hostess will be Mrs. H. G. Boon, Mrs. Homer Benton, Mrs. William Schubert, Mrs. George Wettengel and Mrs. E. L. Bolton.

'The Messiah' Regarded as Best Written

ONE HUNDRED and ninety-six years ago, George Frederick Handel composed what has since been regarded by many as the world's greatest oratorio—"The Messiah". In 24 days the composer completed the score which was first performed at Dublin, Ireland, in April of the following year, with Handel conducting the performance in person. Since the first performance, various alterations have been made in the original score, but the work as a whole has come to us practically unchanged, thus bearing witness that the first conception of the oratorio was likewise the enduring one.

In its annual presentation of the oratorio, next Sunday evening, Dec. 5, the Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college, under the direction of Dean Carl J. Waterman, will sing those choruses from the oratorio which are recognized by people generally as supreme choral utterances. Familiarity with such choruses as "Glory to God," "Behold the Lamb of God," "Lift Up Your Heads, O Ye Gates," "Hallelujah," have seemed to endear the oratorio to multitudes during the nearly two hundred years of its existence.

Two new choruses will be added to the repertoire this year. "This Yoke is Easy" and the beautiful "And With His Stripes We Are Healed". Two hundred voices will participate in singing the choruses. The group includes the senior and freshmen A Cappella choirs of Lawrence college and college students and faculty members not listed in the regularly organized Lawrence choirs. These people have been rehearsing for the last month under the direction of Dean Waterman. A final rehearsal will be held Thursday evening at Memorial chapel.

Ballet Russe Will Perform Wednesday Night at Green Bay

Taking advantage of the fact that the appearance of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo in Green Bay Wednesday night is its first engagement outside metropolitan centers in the middle west, almost all communities in Northeastern Wisconsin are represented in the list of reservations made by mail and telephone at the box office of the Columbus Community Club auditorium where the show will play.

The ballet coming to Green Bay is the complete original company that caused a sensation in the theater of two continents, Europe and America. It is under the leadership of Leonide Massine and includes a galaxy of Russian dance stars whose names are making history in the theater. Among these is Tatiana Riabouchinskaya, Irina Baranova, Alexandra Danilova, David Lichine, and many others.

Every ballet in the repertoire of the Monte Carlo company tells a story as complete and graphic as a drama or motion picture. The three ballets to be given in Green Bay are "Aurora's Wedding," "Prince Igor," and "Cimarosiana." "Aurora's Wedding" is based on the music of Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Princess" and brings together dancers of various nations in national costume. "Prince Igor" is the ballet from Borodin's opera by that name and brings out the full vigor and beauty of the Slavonic music and dance. "Cimarosiana" is a combination of comedy and fantasy after the music of Cimarosa's classic Italian melodies.

The Priesler car was badly damaged.

Postmaster in Plea for Early Christmas Mailing

Kimberly—Postmaster George A. Sauter is urging Kimberly residents to do their Christmas mailing early so that parcels may reach their destination in time. Mr. Sauter said that the Christmas mail of last year may exceed that of the year before. A mailing rush started during the last two weeks.

Mr. Sauter announced a reduction on air mail rates on articles mailed in continental United States. He called attention to the fact that gasoline is prohibited from the mails. He has received reports that the liquid is being mailed in a number of ways, some as samples, others in blow torches, being returned for repairs. The postmaster pointed out that gasoline is inflammable and explosive.

Out of a potential 840 unemployment census report cards which were distributed in the village a few weeks ago by the postmaster, 87 per cent were returned.

Fred Oliver will present the scripture lesson, Miss Jean Finn a short talk on "Our Tuxis Club. What Is It?" Miss Edwanda Abel will have charge of the offering and Russell Volkman will give the prayer of dedication of the offering. The dedicatory hymn will be "To the Knights in the Days of Old," a favorite with the Tuxis club, and the benediction will be given by Miss Mary Van Oyen.

Ushers for the service will be Robert Bohn, Donald Swartz, Marvin Kottke, Vernon Swanson, Donald Dutcher and Harold Everson, and two members of the Tuxis club who are assisting in the junior choir are the Misses Peggy Ogilvie and Jean Holzer.

Pollard Players to Give 'Broken Dishes'

An American comedy drama, "Broken Dishes" by Martin Flavin, will be presented by the Pollard players for students at Appleton High school auditorium at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The 3-act play was headed by Bob and Cleone Pollard for 20 weeks at the Blackstone theater in Chicago last season and was considered one of the hits of the 1932-33 season in New York.

Comedy and drama are interwoven in a picture of a henpecked husband whose wife is always throwing it up to him that she could have made a brilliant match. The man she refers to is held up as a perfect model. The daughter of the family asserts her independence by marrying the man she loves in spite of her mother. The wonder man mother might have married turns up and is soon disclosed as a penniless fugitive from justice.

Don't Bully Constipation

Many purgatives over-stimulate your intestines. That's why you suffer from griping. Why not try a NATURAL laxative food—Kellogg's All-Bran! If you have common constipation, All-Bran will keep you "regular" as the doctors tick. Instead of OVER-STIMULATING your intestines, it gives them two things they need. First, All-Bran supplies "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Second, it's a good source of vitamin "B"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Eat crunchy, toasted All-Bran with milk or cream and fruit. In minutes it's delicious. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two table-spoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. At every grocer's.

Sauthoff Charges House Bill Hurts Badger Farmers

Says Measure Must Include Protection Against Competition

Washington—(AP)—Representative Harry Sauthoff, Madison, Wis., Progressive, asserted yesterday the house agricultural bill would injure Wisconsin farmers unless it included protection to the dairy industry from foreign and southern competition.

He warned southern acreage taken out of production under the bill might be diverted to dairying, thus glutting the market and destroying prices.

He urged preservation of the American market for domestic producers and protested against reciprocal trade agreements.

"We are now subsidizing the cotton farmers with a 50 per cent subsidy. If milk were subsidized on a 50 per cent basis as cotton is subsidized, dairy farmers would receive a subsidy of $50,000,000."

Doesn't Get Full Share
"As a matter of fact if the dairy industry ever insists that its share of the customs receipts be equal to the proportion which the national dairy farm income bears to the total farm income, then the dairy industry would be entitled to about 20 per cent of the annual customs receipts or somewhere around $30,000,000."

"If we had $30,000,000 a year," Sauthoff contended, "we could work out a program to increase milk and milk products consumption."

Enactment of the house farm bill, he said, would take about 30,000,000 acres of land out of production.

"To do this," he said, "we would have to pay the farmers who own this land $750,000,000. In the absence of a financing plan, the money will come from the general treasury and will have to be raised by general taxation. You and I will have to pay for it."

"And this southern acreage taken out of production constitutes a threat to our dairy industry," Sauthoff said. "Representative John E. Rankin of Mississippi said last February the south is now the coming dairy section of the world. You have driven us to it and now you cannot drive us away from it."

DEATHS

MRS. LEONARD A. WILLIAMS
Mrs. Leonard A. Williams, 55, 711 S. Tuleah avenue, died unexpectedly at 8 o'clock this morning at her home.

Born in Appleton June 1, 1882, she lived here all her life. She was a member of the St. Joseph's church, the Third Order of St. Francis and the Christian Mothers society.

Survivors are the husband; four daughters, Mrs. Thomas Davis, Berlin, Mrs. Raymond Menting, Combined Locks, Mrs. Edward Rammer and Mrs. Paul Grieshaber, Appleton; two sons, Leonard Jr., and Clarence, Appleton; three brothers, Frank Kirk, Charles and Fred, Appleton; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Lutz, Liverpool, N. Y., and Mrs. George Leinwender, Appleton; seven grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 8:30 Thursday morning at the Wichmann funeral home and at 9 o'clock at the St. Joseph's church. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from this afternoon to the hour of services.

IRVING GILLET
Funeral services for Irving Gillett, 64, former Appleton resident who died yesterday at Waupaca, will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Wichmann funeral home with the Rev. R. K. Bell of the Memorial Presbyterian church in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from this afternoon to the hour of services.

Born in Chippewa Falls Sept. 19, 1873, Mr. Gillett lived here 23 years, working for the Fox River Paper company. He retired seven years ago. A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he was a member of the Charles O. Baer Company No. 3, Spanish War Veterans, and members of that organization will conduct services at his funeral and burial Thursday. He was a member of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Holman, Eau Claire; three brothers, Charles, Richmond, Va., George, Appleton, and Mark, Los Angeles; three sisters, Bernice and Winifred, Burbank, Cal., and Mrs. Sam Harper, West Salem; three grandchildren.

GEORGE POLASKI
George Polaski, 53, 716 Shiocton street, died at New London hospital at 4 o'clock this morning after an illness of two weeks.

He was born April 14, 1884, at Manitowish, Mich., and came to New London about 18 years ago. Before coming to New London, he lived at Milwaukee, Jennings and at Bessemer, Mich. He was a member of the Furniture Workers local 1642.

Survivors are the widow; four daughters, Mrs. Frank Rogers, Miss Valeria Polaski and Miss Evelyn Polaski and Miss Evelyn Polaski, all of Milwaukee; and Mary, New London; three sons, Joseph and John, Milwaukee; and August, Oshkosh; and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Thursday morning at the Most Precious Blood Catholic church with the Rev. Paul E. Herb. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. The body will be at the residence until the time of the funeral.

MRS. CARL F. WAGNER
Mrs. Carl F. Wagner, 63, Two Rivers and formerly of Appleton, died at her home yesterday morning after a 2-week illness.

Born in Germany, she came to America with her parents and grew up in Appleton.

Survivors are the widow; two daughters, Ruth, 7, and Mary Margaret, 3.

JENKINS FUNERAL
The funeral of Mrs. Orville Jenkins, former Appleton resident who died last week in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, was held at 9:30 this morning at the Schommer funeral home with services at 10 o'clock at St. Mary church. The Rev. J. E. Meagher was in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Boilers were George P. McGilgan, B. J. Shinnors, Chris Mullen, Edward Vaughn, James Hobbs and Guy Warner.

THE BELL RINGS, THE KETTLE FILLS

The picture of a Salvation Army worker standing in the cold at a busy street corner, ringing a bell and receiving contributions in a kettle is inseparable from Christmas tradition. In the above picture, the worker is Charles Daniels, 918 S. Walden street, stationed at the corner of College avenue and Oneida street near the bus stop. The contributors are Mrs. W. A. Cole, 1021 N. Morrison street, wife of the high school football coach, and her son, John.

Hortonville Hunters Prove They are Either Lucky or Expert Deer Stalkers

Reports from Hortonville distinguish that village as having about the most expert or luckiest bunch of hunters in these parts. Fourteen Hortonville men who returned Sunday and yesterday from Northern Wisconsin woods brought bucks back with them.

The men are B. J. Oik, I. E. Schmidt, Keith Shambau, Wilbur Hofer, Victor Behrend, Francis Meredith, Lloyd Riedel, Chris Faley, Roland Blank, Bernard Bessert, Arnold Gradi, Walter and W. M. Harris, and L. D. Herschberger.

Two Appleton men, Charles Debenack, route 2, who was hunting at Three Lakes, and Ernest Coenen, Haskett street, camped near Minocqua, were successful. Debenack's buck, shot the first morning out, weighed 154 pounds and Coenen's 100.

Joseph Grier and Henry Peters, Sherwood, both bagged their bucks. Grier's animal weighed 163 pounds. Black Creek nimrods who filled their licenses were Erwin Grunwaldt, Arthur Genske, Walter Zuehlsdorf and John Duham.

Genske's deer weighed 180 pounds. Grunwaldt and Zuehlsdorf each shot bucks weighing 170 pounds near Three Lakes.

Hugo Caliebe, Appleton, route 3, has a 10-prong, 200-pound buck to show for his hunting trip up into the Long Lake region. His companions were Harvey and Raymond Springstroh and Melvin and Harry Flammann.

One Appleton family will have plenty of venison for awhile. A. V. Liese, 518 S. Walnut street, and his son, Eugene, who searched the woods near Conover during the season, each brought home an antlered buck. The father's weighed 170 and the son's 150.

A. Weigand and Herman Keil are the only Kaukauna deer hunters reported to have filled their licenses. Hunting near Eagle River, each man brought down a buck weighing about 125 pounds.

Victor Dix, Hilbert, returned home from Northern Wisconsin with a handsome buck.

Percy Blaustein, 1223 N. Harrison street, Appleton, returned last night from a hunting trip with a 12-prong, 175-pound buck he shot near Phillips. William Schumacher, Little Chute, reported that he killed a 190-pound animal that sported 10 prongs.

Births
A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schmiede, 931 W. Lorraine street, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bushman, 1107 W. Fifth street, at St. Elizabeth hospital Monday.

The stockholders voted last night to take active steps towards the purchase of the property at the corner of Pacific and Durkee streets on which the association's gas station is located.

A net profit of nine per cent on the 157,000 business was reported for the year. This will be returned to stockholders in proportion to their purchases.

Harold W. Jens, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Jens, 318 W. Winnebago street, died at 9:30 yesterday morning in his office at Peoria, Ill., from heart disease.

Born at Appleton, he was graduated from Lawrence college and was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. At the time of his death, he was vice president of the Negley, Jens & Rowe Investment Securities at Peoria. He was recently made a Thirty-Third Degree Mason.

Survivors are the widow, the parents; two daughters, Ruth, 7, and Mary Margaret, 3.

Funeral services will be at 10 o'clock at St. Mary church. The Rev. J. E. Meagher was in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Boilers were George P. McGilgan, B. J. Shinnors, Chris Mullen, Edward Vaughn, James Hobbs and Guy Warner.

Wisconsin Average Hourly Rate Falls Below That Of Other States

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington—Wisconsin unskilled laborers on their first jobs received less in wages per hour than did unskilled laborers in any of the four other east, north central states, a survey of hourly entrance rates in various industries, utilities, and building construction by the labor department shows.

The average hourly entrance wage rate for Wisconsin unskilled laborers, in July, 1937, according to the survey, was 51 cents. Highest in that region was paid in Illinois—59.4 cents.

The Wisconsin rate falls only slightly below the average for the country, which the survey for July shows to be 51.2 cents per hour. The average for the north was 53.3 cents while for the south, it was 38.9 cents.

Only 4.9 per cent of common laborers received 70 cents per hour, and of that number, 63 per cent were northern laborers and 7 per cent were in the south.

The survey is the twelfth annual common-labor survey, covering 5,238 establishments in 20 industries with 222,535 unskilled laborers on their payrolls at entrance rates.

Award Contracts For Heat Systems

Engel Company to Furnish Boilers for Highway Department Structures

J. A. Engel Heating company was awarded the contract to furnish two Kewanee boilers and two New York heating units for county garages at Hortonville and Seymour at a meeting of the county highway committee Monday. The company's bid was $2,250.

A contract to furnish two Lawton stokers for the same buildings was awarded to the H. J. Brandt Hardware company of Black Creek. The company submitted low bid of $770, covering the cost of the stokers and installation.

Action on bids for wiring the two garages was deferred until the next meeting of the committee. The garages will house county highway machinery.

Realty Transfers
The following real estate transfers were filed today at the office of A. L. Carter, Outagamie county register of deeds:

George H. Wiese to Albert Gieseler, a lot in the Third ward, Appleton.

Ida Haberland to Wilbert Haberland, a parcel of land in the town of Freedom.

In trying to obtain fair prices for petroleum and its products.

The argument arose out of testimony by Wirt Franklin, Ardmore, Okla., crude oil producer, that small refiners in the mid-continent area had to get 34 cents a gallon for their gasoline to break even when the price of crude oil was $1 a barrel.

Franklin said that in October, 1934, the independent refiners had threatened to cut the price they would pay for crude. When Donovan asked why the threat was not carried out, government prosecutors objected and the court sustained the objection.

When the jury left Donovan read a statement that Franklin would have told of a meeting of oil men with Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, petroleum code administrator, in October, 1934, at which Ickes sent a telegram to a leading refiner saying, "I personally urge you to make no reduction at this crucial time."

The statement said Franklin, who was first chairman of the planning and coordination committee of the NRA petroleum code, would have testified that Ickes and the petroleum administrative board wanted the price of crude oil maintained at $1 a barrel.

Franklin earlier testified the price was stabilized at $1 late in 1933.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell (left), the former Doris Duke, smiled happily when they were enthusiastically greeted by settlers at the Tygart homestead near Elkins, W. Va. Mrs. Cromwell, known as the "world's richest girl" was a Russian mink coat and a knit dress, and the First Lady was clad in a tweed suit with brown sable neckpiece.

New York Society Glitters in Its Old Splendor as Opera Season Opens

BY MARY E. PLUMMER

New York—(AP)—Opera was in full swing again today at the Metropolitan Opera house after the most plushy opening night since 1929.

The Anjors, the Vanderbilts, the Belmonts and other bulwarks of New York society were represented last night in the audience of 4,000 that heard Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" along with the president's mother, an ambassador's wife, a United States senator and Libby Holman (minus her stockings).

If yards of ermine, large emeralds, dazzling diamond necklaces and aigrettes are any gauge of business conditions, the opera opening proved something.

There was an abundance of riches in attire.

In contrast to the year when Ganna Walska's ropes of emeralds were the only ones at the opera, there was a double rope of them on Mrs. Christian Holmes, a two-inch emerald adorning Mrs. Clarence Mackay, the former Anna Case of the "Met," and an emerald tiara on two in addition.

One pair of tickets sold for $150. More than 500 opera fans waited in line to pay $2 for standing room; 100 were in the $1 stables line; and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt had two boxes instead of her usual one.

"Tristan," with Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchior in the leading roles, proved a good choice for an opener, contrary to the expectation of "Aida" fans.

The arrival of Mrs. James Roosevelt, the president's mother, in black and velvet and diamonds, drew applause from a gallery of bystanders outside the opera.

Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh glittered with five diamond bracelets.

Menasha Woman Given Divorce by Judge Ryan

Mrs. Virginia Miller, 21, 215 Prevaert street, Menasha, was granted a divorce from Joseph Miller, 20, Appleton, in municipal court this morning by Judge Thomas H. Ryan on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Miller was given custody of an infant child and the defendant was ordered to pay $10 a month for its support. The couple was married May 5, 1936, and separated Sept. 23, 1937.

Joseph DeBruin, 525 W. Fifth street, and E. M. Kolberg, 419 W. Summer street, were arraigned before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning for failing to purchase licenses for their dogs. Both were ordered to buy licenses and to pay court costs.

Japanese Contest

Tokio—(AP)—The Tokio newspaper Nichi Nichi reported in a dispatch from Changchow, China, that two Japanese sub-lieutenants were engaged in a race to see which would be the first to kill 100 Chinese soldiers. The score stood 56 to 26.

Badger Hereford Wins First Place

Mineral Point Entries Take Awards at International Show

Chicago—(AP)—Homer Graber, Mineral Point, Wis., showed the first place Hereford steer in the 1,500 to 1,400 pound class in the first place group of three Herefords at the International Livestock show here yesterday.

Harvey Hattman, Sauk City, Wis., had the winning carload of swine, 150 to 200 pounds, in which class P. E. Leykauf, also of Sauk City, was third. Emil Kuenster, Glenhaven, Wis., was third in the carload swine class of 250 to 300 pounds.

The University of Wisconsin showed the champion pen of three large Yorkshire barrows, a group of which earlier had won in the 160 to 200-pound class. Wisconsin also had first place pen of sire large Yorkshire barrows and the third place pen of three barrows in the 240 to 300-pound class.

Another first place went to the school for its barrow in the 160-200 pound division. Its entry in the 200-240 pound pen of three placed third and its individual entry in the 200-240 pound class was third.

Theodore Griswold, Livingston, Wis., won a second place in the Shorthorn steers, 875 to 1,000 pounds class.

The University of Wisconsin claimed three awards—second in pens of three Poland China barrows of 200 to 250 pounds; second in pens of Poland China barrows, 160-200 pounds; second, Poland China barrows of 200 to 240 pounds.

Howman Reelected Pension Director By County Board

Special Committee Clears Administrator of Dunham's Accusations

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—L. M. Howman was reelected pension administrator by an almost unanimous vote of the Winnebago county board after a special committee had exploded accusations made by R. J. Dunham, former pension investigator, at the Monday afternoon session.

Result of ballot, taken just before adjournment, gave only four votes to Mrs. Elda Schoenberger, present WPA recreational director, with 33 votes for Howman.

The special committee report, signed by John Moore, chairman, stated the charges of R. J. Dunham, pension administrator, were vague and indefinite. A checkup of the mileage report of Howman, the report said, revealed no irregularities. Several charges were disposed of after investigation, one found to be "pure fiction" said to involve paying a pension claim only 5 cents out of her pension.

It was explained a voucher made out to a Neenah physician, was required because the client needed immediate aid, and adjustment since has been made. Charges of mistreatment and "starving" of Menasha residents were unfounded, the report said.

Extra help to the extent of $150 in the office of the register of deeds and $300 in the office of the county clerk, was voted. A similar request for $300 in the office of the clerk of courts was excluded.

A proposal of $20,000 for the administration of Soldiers and Sailors' relief was cut to $15,000, after much discussion. E. F. Dornbrook, Menasha supervisor, stated he knew of one case where a man made $1.25 per hour most of the summer, then applied for and received relief.

Howman was closely questioned by R. M. Hecker, Menasha, in regard to specific charges. In response to the question of the site of proposed county garage bothered Tuesday morning even after an estimate of the cost of the building was slashed from $75,000 to $40,000. A proposal from the Lutz Stone company, Oshkosh, which shows the county about $10,000 in delinquent taxes and offers a site for about $3,000 to be taken off the indebtedness, entered the consideration.

In a proposal this morning by Henry Scholz, Neenah, supervisor on the highway committee, a 1-story building to cost about $40,000 was designated. The size was given to be 80 by 120 feet. Supervisor William Casswell, of the highway committee, pointed out the county had about $200,000 worth of equipment which was not sheltered. This included five tractors at $9,500 each and 17 trucks valued at $9,000 each as well as snow removal machinery.

Select Site First
An amendment was finally tacked on the resolution to liberate the $40,000 appropriation after a site had been selected by the county board. Possibility of placing the county radio station in conjunction with this building was discussed.

H. N. Howe, Oshkosh supervisor, told the board that statements made by Irving Stulp, county patrolman, regarding the estimate of upkeep of the radio station were much below the present cost. Action on the $40,000 appropriation was deferred until Tuesday afternoon, the highway committee being called to Neenah for a hearing on the Pine Street bridge.

Miss Ruth Lutz of the Oshkosh Visiting Nurse association reported to the board that 254 calls in the county had been made in 1937 at a cost of about $1.10 each. It was voted on motion of C. H. Pope, Neenah supervisor, to appropriate $300 even to the Oshkosh association and the Neenah-Menasha association.

Child Wants His Clothes To Be Like Other Fellows

BY ANGELO PATRI

"O Harold!"

"Yes, mother, I'm coming."

"I got something for you today when I was downtown."

"O, did you? What is it? Let's see it. I'll bet it's a new football like Reg's. Is it?"

"No. It's something to wear."

"I know. You got me a sweater with the school letter on it. Hurry up and let's see if it fits. All the fellows are getting them. Hope it fits."

"But my dear, I didn't know you wanted the sweater. I bought you a gorgeous new cap for school."

"One with the band? Goodie—"

"Don't go off half-cocked that way. Here! It's a glengarry. The ribbon is Campbell. Your grandfathers were Campbells, you know. Don't you like it? Try it on. I'll look stunning on your yellow head."

"No sir-ee-ee Bobs. Not for me. I wouldn't wear that to a cat fight. All the fellows would hoot me out of the yard. Why didn't you buy me a school cap like the ones the other fellows wear? I have to have a school hat and a school sweater."

"I paid a lot of money for this—"

"You can change it and get a school cap and put the rest to the sweater. I can't wear that kind of a hat. It's nutty."

"That's the thanks I get for spending my money on—"

"Well, mother, it is a pretty cap, but I think that Harold will like his school cap better and I know you won't mind changing it. I'll add the sweater money."

"That's the good old boy, daddy. You're some daddy. Please mother, change it and get me one like the fellows wear. Will you?"

In childhood one wears the protective coloring of the crowd. It is harder then to stand out as different from one's fellows than it will ever be again, and it is hard enough any time of life. All that children between the ages of seven and twelve ask of their clothes can be told briefly. Make them like the other fellows and don't make them too tight.

It does not help at all to know that the new coat or the new dress is finer and better and more costly than any that the others have. A fine pair of shoes, no matter how fine, arouse no pride in the heart that longs for a pair of sneakers like the ones the boys from across the tracks wear. Only the protective coloring of the crowd can make the children feel safe and secure among their own kind. Better leave it so.

As they begin growing up their tastes begin to show. The girl will strive for a distinctive touch, the boy will want to have the first sweater of its style on the field. That is time enough. Until then, give them the security of anonymity.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosed a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

HUSBAND AND WIFE AT A DINNER

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm giving a dinner party of eighteen in honor of a bride and groom and I am not sure about the seating arrangement. Should a husband and wife so newly married be seated together at table or should they be separated as they would be had they been married for a longer time? I am supposing, of course, that even if you say it is proper to seat the bride and groom together, other couples should be separated. Or, on this occasion, should all be seated, husband and wife, as well as bride and groom? If it is proper to seat them in pairs, are place cards proper?

Answer: The only occasion when a husband and wife should be seated at a table together is at their own wedding breakfast, and possibly, though not always, at the anniversary of their wedding—especially the golden anniversary. At the earlier anniversaries they are usually seated at the opposite ends of the table. But as I have just said, it would be permissible to seat them side by side at their anniversary dinner, but never at any other time. I have been told that in certain communities people go out to dinner and are seated next to their own husbands or wives. Whether this is true or whether somebody wrote this to me as a joke, I don't know because I can't imagine anything so strange or, what is much more important, so stupid. After all, an advantage of dining out is to sit next to people you don't see all the time. Therefore, talking with them brings you fresh ideas which you in turn can talk about at home. The fact that you love one person more than any one else in the world, and that you would rather be with that person than with any other person in the world, does not mean that you never want to hear anything or think anything, or discuss anything, excepting with that one person. In other words, never hearing any one else's point of view is not very nourishing to the mind.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell us what is proper in the following instances. Should a hostess give a lunch party in a hotel or on her hat or does she take it off as though she were at home? Is the same answer true at an afternoon tea? Would both the host and hostess be the same if, instead of at the party in a hotel, it were given at her club?

Answer: In a hotel the hostess should keep her hat on. If she were living in the club she might go downstairs with her hat off but she would be more likely to wear it. If she were not living in the club then she would certainly have her hat on. In her own house she would wear a hat or not as she pleases at lunch. At tea time, however, a hostess never wears a hat in her own house. Therefore, if she has a private room in a hotel or club, that is, if she is not giving her tea down in a public room, she would probably go without her hat.

Criss-Cross Tucks

When a French housewife buys bread, she does not get the kind of loaf common in our land. The store has long thin loaves from which she can choose. Each loaf is about four feet long, and two or three inches in diameter.

The loaves are not all of the same size. Some are a little longer or a little shorter than the average, or a little thicker or a little thinner. For this reason, the shopkeeper weighs the loaf after it is picked out. The charge he makes for it depends on the weight.

When taken home the loaf is cut into scores of small pieces. Often the bread is eaten without butter. In many households, the breakfast is the only meal at which the family has butter on its bread.

The breakfast is a very simple meal in France—usually just bread and butter and coffee or hot chocolate. Coffee in France is served in two ways. There may be a small cup of black coffee, with no cream or milk, at the end of luncheon or dinner. For breakfast it is usual to have a large cup half-filled with coffee and half with hot milk.

In some, but not all, homes the noonday meal is the dinner and the evening is supper. Both are likely to be rather heavy, and both have several courses. Soup, fish, meat and vegetables, salad, dessert, cheese and coffee come along one after another. The plates may be changed three or four times during a meal.

The other evening, I watched a waiter serve a meal to a dozen persons seated at a long table in a Paris home. The etiquette of his work made it necessary for him to serve the oldest woman first, then the next oldest, until at last he reached a 15-year-old girl. Then he went to the oldest man, the next oldest, and down to an 11-year-old boy.

Since the people were not seated according to age, the waiter had to go first to one side, then to the other, then back again to the first side. I kept count, and found that during the meal he walked from side to side of the table 27 times!

French cooks are noted for their skill. During all my travels, I have not found food cooked so well in any other country. As a rule I do not eat very much food, but this time in Paris I have found such a good chef that I have taken a "second helping" almost every time it was offered.

Jewels Should Fit Type

BY ELSIE PIERCE

Never a season like this one for glamour. Never a season like this for glitter. Allure is meted out in all manner of embellishments and jewels are, more than ever, the final, dazzling accent. Fashion says "the more, the merrier" but we feel that jewels should be weighed by a beauty scale.

Jewels can, without a doubt, make one lovelier. On the other hand, they can go far in making one look ludicrous. There are those who can wear clips and necklaces, brooches and bracelets, earrings and rings and look very soignée. There are others who would look overburdened even if the jewels happened to be very rare and valuable. Obviously, then, one's type must be considered. The dainty china doll, petite type would seem as sadly askew wearing large rings, massive pendants or bracelets as she would if she attempted to wear a long train. The simple "brownie" attempting to look more worldly by wearing a row of bracelets would only call attention to the obvious effort. Know yourself. Know the jewels you can wear, the type, the size, the color, the quantity. And err, if you must, on the conservative side.

Color and Line

Choice of color and line in jewels or ornaments is quite as important as choice of color and line in dress. True, in jewels, particularly precious stones, color seldom offends. Most colors blend beautifully when intermingled. But it is safest to strike a color harmony between dress and jewelry, nail polish and costume rings and so on. Orange-toned nail polish above a garnet will cause a clashing note. As for line, remember that a necklace like the neckline of a dress can do much to make the face appear longer or wider, the throat more slender or full; a bracelet can make the wrist narrower or broader; and so on. Choker type necklaces are for the swan-throated only. Women with wide faces or necks or double chins should avoid them choosing long strands of beads instead of no necklaces at all. Slender wrists adorned in bracelets are made more beautiful. The eye is carried across. Then what happens is there is excess flesh at the wrist! And remember too that jewels though they enhance the color of the complexion, emphasize flaws on the hand. Chipped hands or clipped nail polish is all the more evident when emphasized by sparkling diamonds! So make sure the background is beautiful enough first, then weigh jewels by a beauty scale!

West opened the club three. East won with the ace and, realizing that sufficient club tricks could not be taken to defeat the contract, correctly shifted to the spade jack. Declarer covered. West won and returned a spade upon which East played the nine.

Now the declarer was between the devil and the sea. The heart finesse had not yet been tried. If it lost to west, and the latter had started with three spades, it would be fatal to take this present spade trick. Engagement That Can Be Broken Should Be Broken

Dear Miss Dix—Is there any technique that is usual for a girl to use in breaking her engagement? I take it for granted that my fiancée has called things off because she has passed into silence and I haven't been able to get a word out of her for the last four weeks. My letters begging for an explanation bring no answer and the long-distance telephone operator invariably sings "they say she's in" when I try to get her over the wire. There is no reason for her change of attitude toward me as we have had no disagreement of any nature whatever. I still write to her every day and every week-end I send her a little gift of some sort, as I have done ever since we became engaged. These are accepted but not acknowledged. She hangs on to the Kohinoor Jr. that I slipped on her finger with so much weal that I still owe a hundred bucks on it, and because of the fact that she hasn't returned the ring I am holding to the hope, forlorn though it be, that perhaps everything will work out all right before long. When I know where I stand.

K. B.

all is said and done it is her privilege to break the engagement and if that is what she wants to do I will step out of the picture, but I would like to know where I stand.

Answer: Well, I'd say that the lady has waived you out into the air and that you are standing in the great open space, es, romantically speaking. Also, deduce that there are two reasons why your sweetie has suddenly ceased to answer your letters and let the silence of the grave descend upon her. One is that she has fallen out of love with you and in love with some other man and she is ashamed to tell you of her fickleness. But the main reason is that she means to keep that diamond ring and she doesn't intend to enter into any argument about it.

So just charge the Kohinoor up to educational expenses and forget it. And in this particular case I think your experience will be worth all it costs in the pangs of unrequited love and hard cash. For a man is lucky to find out before marriage, instead of afterward, whether a girl is a grafter, and whether she is marrying him because she loves him or because she thinks she can get luxuries out of him. He is more than lucky if a girl who is changeable and liable to shift the objects of her affections does it on the safe side of the altar and thus saves him alimony.

I regret to have to tell you that so far as I know, etiquette authorities have not laid down any technique for breaking engagements, so there is no rule on how to do it.

But you can comfort yourself with one reflection, and that is that any engagement that can be broken properly is a broken engagement, and if either a man or a woman doubt their love or their suitability for each other before marriage, not only the honor of each but also the kind thing is for either he or she to break a promise whose keeping would wreck their lives.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl 17, deeply in love with a boy who has gone with me sometimes but has never dated me regularly, and now I haven't seen him for several weeks. Shall I tell him how crazy I am about him, or must I go away to another town and try to forget him? I am making my way through life and have no home to turn to. What shall I do? LONESOME

Answer: If you are alone in the world and must depend upon yourself, my earnest advice is to put all of your thoughts on trying to learn how to excel in whatever occupation you have undertaken so that you may be able to command a good salary instead of just getting a small wage. There is lots more Double-quick Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.

No matter what you might spend for medicine, you couldn't get quicker, better relief from coughs that start from colds than this simple home mixture gives. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.

Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any drugstore. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, you'll say it beats anything you've tried. It has a remarkable three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in 48 hours.

Coach Drilling Basketball Team On Fundamentals

Kaukauna Squad to Get First Test Against Alumni Friday

Kaukauna — With the Kaukauna High school basketball squad cut to 21 players and a further cut in prospect shortly, Coach Paul E. Little continues to drill the players on fundamentals.

Shooting, pivoting, guarding and passing have been stressed to the almost total exclusion of actual scrimmage in most of the work-outs so far this year. The team will get its first test Friday afternoon when the alumni will scrimmage them. The alumni will be led by Art Koehne, high scoring forward of last year, and Ves Hanby, who starred at a guard position.

In spite of the lack of scrimmage so far the starting five for the opener here with St. Mary's of Menasha on Monday, Dec. 6, seems to be fairly certain. At center the leading candidate seems to be Bill Alger, freshman football end of the last season, who is tall and has a good eye for the basket. The forward posts appear to go to the Leland Lambie, all-conference football tackle, and Bill Peterson, all-conference halfback. The football influence is further upheld in the first five by Carl Giordana, who will probably start at a guard position, and Cliff Vaneehoven, another guard. With the elimination of the center jump this year the center post has become a turning position, and Little has indicated that the players will sometimes shift positions in games to ease the burden of the center.

As the two first fives lined up yesterday afternoon the first string had Giordana and Vaneehoven at guards, Alger at center, and Peterson and Lambie at forwards. The quintet opposing them had Wolfe at center, Grogan and McCarty at guards and Swedberg and Biseck at forwards.

Those who are still on the squad after the first cut a few days ago are Cliff Vaneehoven, Carl Peterson, Leland Lambie, Junior Swedberg, Bill Alger, Henry Skendore, Carl Giordana, Leo Wolfe, Bill Peterson, Neil McCarty, John Grogan, George Steffens, Kenneth Busse, Andy Meiner, Cliff Kalista, Leland Scherer, Joseph Koch, Don Biseck, Gerald Meyer, Bob Derus, Joseph Bloch, and Bob Eiting.

Sale of W. A. T. A. Seals

Underway at Kaukauna

Kaukauna — Kaukauna business concerns and civic and fraternal organizations have received their annual allotments of Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association Christmas seals, mailed late last week, Mrs. H. E. Thompson, chairman for Kaukauna, has announced. One half of the returns from the sale of the stamps goes to the Kaukauna Federated Women's club, Mrs. Thompson said, which used the money for the weekly dental clinic and for the giving of X-ray examinations to those who show a positive reaction to the tuberculin test. The other half goes to the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

Benefit Association

To Hear Field Director

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Women's Benefit Association will hold a rally Tuesday night at Hotel Kaukauna, beginning with a dinner at 7 o'clock. Reservations have been received from Neenah, Menasha, Green Bay and Manitowoc, with delegates from Milwaukee and Beloit also are expected. A representation of 35 will come from Green Bay.

Gertrude Voss, Milwaukee, field director of the association, will be the main speaker. A group of candidates from Kaukauna will be initiated and the Green Bay and Kaukauna drill teams will perform.

Postmasters have been authorized to sell precanceled stamps and affix them to second, third and fourth class mail during the Christmas rush to save gift and card senders the trouble.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Gertz Bowlers to Meet Pantry Five In League Contest

Kaukauna — The first of three bowling leagues scheduled to roll this week will swing into action tonight at the Schell alleys with the Gertz Tavern five meeting the Pantry Lunch quintet in the feature match of the evening. These teams are tied for second, a game behind the league-leading Little Chute Bottlers. The leaders play the Mellow Brews. Other matches scheduled pair the Post Office and Gustmans and Hopfenspergers and the Miller High Lites. The Pantry Lunch team will be gunning for its tenth straight game in the first of their series tonight as they have swept 3-game series in their last three starts.

Thursday evening bowling will be resumed with the league leading Tittman five meeting the Ristauers, the second place Badger team playing the Lucky Strikes, and the Schell's, also tied for second, playing the Kalupas. The Golden Stars will compete with the Renns in the fourth match of the evening.

Friday night the Kaukauna K.C.'s will defend their top position in the Fraternal league against the Molochs, the Moose will play the Masons, the Foresters the Greenwoods and the Elks will play the Hollandtown K.C.'s.

Social Items

Kaukauna — The Juvenile Foresters of St. Ann's court will hold a Christmas party at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Holy Cross church basement.

The choir of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church will hold a rehearsal at 7 o'clock this evening.

The Social Union of the Bokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the Epworth home.

The Ladies Aid of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

Those wishing to attend the December meeting of the Outagamie county council of the American Auxiliary will make reservations with Mrs. Carl Hiltgenberg today. The meeting will be held at Kimberly Thursday.

The Altar Society of St. Mary's church will meet at 7:30 tonight in the church basement.

The Woman's Aid of the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church will meet at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the school hall. Hostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Herman Kohl, Mrs. Mike Klein, Mrs. Albert Kobs and Mrs. William Lang.

The Young Peoples society of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church will meet at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

Grandson of Kaukauna

Man Dies at Manitowoc

Kaukauna — Word was received in Kaukauna today of the death of Edward Mau, Jr., 7-year son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Mau, Manitowoc, who died there yesterday afternoon after a short illness. He was the grandson of John Mau, 305 ninth street, Kaukauna, and his parents were former residents of this city. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Manitowoc.

CITY GOVERNMENT IDEAS UNIQUE

City Attention Centered On Bridge Problem in 1893

Editor's Note: This year marks the golden jubilee of Kaukauna's incorporation as a city. This is the fifteenth of a series of articles tracing the history of Kaukauna from early times.

BY WILLIAM DOWLING

Kaukauna — In 1893 the common council turned its attention to providing residents with a new bridge over the Fox River, to replace the ramshackle wooden one then in use.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the construction of a bridge across the river starting on the north side at the intersection of Wisconsin avenue and Lawe street and running to Main avenue on the south side. The cost of the proposed structure was not to exceed $35,000.

The mayor was instructed to appoint two aldermen and himself as a committee to cause plans and specifications to be made and submitted to the council for approval or rejection.

Several months later a council resolution appropriated $2,192 from the poor fund to pay for the right of way of the north side approach to the new bridge. The city attorney was instructed to draw up bridge bonds in the proper legal form and the city clerk was ordered to have them printed.

A letter from the H. W. Harris Bond company of Chicago was received by the council, offering to take the entire $35,000 bond issue for a commission of one per cent, which offer the council accepted. The bonds were to mature in 20 years, and were redeemable by the city at its option any time after five years of sale.

In September the committee appointed to consider plans for the bridge announced they had selected the specifications, and asked that the council advertise for bids to build the structure in accordance with their plans. This was done by the council, and it was specified that all stone used in the new bridge must be quarried in Kaukauna.

In October the bid of the Milwaukee Bridge and Iron Works company to build the bridge for $29,660 was accepted, provided the company would sublet the excavation and mason work to Luther Landauer and W. E. Smith of Kaukauna.

Construction of the bridge, a wooden structure with an iron frame, was finished in 1893, and was used until the present Lawe street bridge was built in 1932.

It is also of interest at this time to note that the council met and set the city's tax levy at $21.882, in comparison with the $150,000 or more that will be requested at the meeting of the common council tonight.

Wahlberg to Talk at Rotary Club Meeting

Kaukauna — Gilbert G. Wahlberg, instructor at the Kaukauna Vocational school, will be the speaker at tomorrow's noon meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Kaukauna, it was announced this morning. Mr. Wahlberg will describe the aims and activities of the vocational school, with particular reference to the work being done in Kaukauna.

Frank Mitchler, New Commander, Selects Groups To Serve for Year

Kaukauna — With the installation of officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Electric City Post No. 3319, committees for the year have been named by Frank Mitchler, newly installed commander.

The house committee is composed of Max Streich, H. Adams, G. Giesbers, G. Egan, E. Steidl, and L. Wilpolt; the feed and entertainment committee has as members E. Lopas, W. Warnecke, J. Garlish, J. J. Verfurth, C. Clune, A. Kromer, and J. Vandenbroek, while the membership committee consists of H. Adams, M. Streich, G. Egan, M. J. Verfurth, N. Martzahl and Leo Feller.

Officers for the coming year are as follows: commander, Frank Mitchler; senior vice commander, Clifford Brandt; junior vice commander, Arthur Kromer; quartermaster, Matt J. Verfurth; adjutant, Edward Steidl; advocate, Charles Clune; chaplain, Joseph Paulsh; officer of the day, Alfred Wagnitz; service officer, Louis Wilpolt; guard, John Vanden Broek; sentinels, William Warnecke; color bearers, Ervin Lopas, Ben Ives, color sergeant, Edwin Ives; patriotic instructor, Ollie G. Dryer; historian, Arthur Kosim; trustees, Ervin Lopas, Ray Nagel and Joseph Rink.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Will Be Formed at Kaukauna

Kaukauna — Definite action regarding the formation of an auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Electric City Post No. 3319, will be taken at a meeting of women to be held Tuesday evening, Dec. 7, at the home of Mrs. Ben Ives, Klein street. The matter was first mentioned at the last meeting of the veterans, at which time the women signed an application blank for a charter for the auxiliary. The district president of the Auxiliary will be present at the meeting, along with other members of auxiliaries from surrounding cities who will help make plans for the formation of an auxiliary here. All wives of members of the local post are being asked to be present.

Rubbish Collection

To be Made Wednesday

Kaukauna — Rubbish collections for December on the north side will begin Wednesday, Thomas H. Reardon, north side street commissioner, said this morning. Residents are asked to place their rubbish in containers and set them on the curb for collection.

Red Cross Campaign Nets 100 Memberships

Kaukauna — Over 100 memberships have already been sold to Kaukauna residents in the Red Cross roll call, according to an announcement by Mrs. James T. C'Connell, chairman of the drive here. The roll call was to have ended Thanksgiving but has been continued over into the first part of this week. Persons who wish to take out a membership in the Red Cross may do so by contacting any member of the committee.

The committee is composed of Mrs. O'Connell, Mrs. F. W. Grogan, C. D. Townsley, Henry Olm, Walter P. Hagman, R. H. McCarty, Theodore Boettcher, Miss Stella Van Ryssen, Miss Cecil Flynn, Mrs. Homer Metz, Mrs. Carl Chopin, Mrs. Olin G. Dryer, Miss Lottie Bell, Miss Genevieve Burns, Miss Lottie McCarty, Miss Rose Phillips and Mrs. Henry Olm.

The local membership drive was begun on Nov. 5. Fifty cents of each membership fee goes to support national Red Cross service, and the rest is retained by the chapter here for local work.

Decorate City Building For Christmas Season

Kaukauna — Kaukauna's first Christmas decorations flashed out this week when the lighting arrangements about the municipal building, installed last week by city workmen, were completed. Over 200 red and green lights have been strung about the front and sides of the building, and large blue and red stars, composed of light clusters, hung over the front. The lights will sparkle until the end of the Christmas holidays.

Canadeo to Oppose Ahl in Feature of Next Fight Card

Seven - Bout Program Will be Staged Thursday, Dec. 9

SCARLATA VS. FERO

Billy Jochman Returns
To Ring for Go

THE CARD
Savior Canadeo, St. Norbert college, versus Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, five rounds at 145 pounds.
Al Scarlata, St. Norbert college, versus Bruce Fero, Fond du Lac, five rounds at 120 pounds.
Johnny Dux, Fond du Lac, versus Willard Hayes, Oconto, three rounds at 180 pounds.
Billy Jochman, Greenville, versus Ken Allmers, Oshkosh, three rounds at 185 pounds.
Butch Miller, Appleton, versus Gordon Jungwirth, Oshkosh, three rounds at 155 pounds.
Jerry Gutman, Fond du Lac, versus Clifford Lutz, Appleton, three rounds at 135 pounds.
Robert Jacobs, Appleton, versus Jack Kent, Waupaca, three rounds at 112 pounds.

WHAT is certain to be one of the choicest fight cards arranged for Appleton and Fox river valley followers of the sport will be presented at Armory G on Thursday evening, Dec. 9, with Savior Canadeo, the popular and highly accomplished St. Norbert college boxer, trading punches with Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, in the feature go.

The Canadeo-Ahl fight brings together a couple lads who are popular here, who have never traded leather before and who have all kinds of stuff. As a matter of fact, Ahl has never even seen Canadeo perform although he'll probably be watching closely when both take part in a show this week at Oshkosh.

Indications are that the Legion's next show will be the best program staged here in a long, long time. Besides the Canadeo-Ahl brawl, Al Scarlata, another popular St. Norbert boxer, will try to make Bruce Fero and still long enough to cuff him down. Both are experienced ringmen and like to toss punches.

The card also will mark the return of Billy Jochman, Greenville, to the ring. He's fighting at 185 pounds now and will meet Ken Allmers, Oshkosh. There's a possibility the bout will steal the show because the two boys hit hard and they like to stand toe-to-toe and slug.

Three Appleton boxers are listed on the program: Robert Jacobs, a 112-pounder from Appleton and St. Norbert high school will appear in the opener, Butch Miller, late of the army will take on Gordon Jungwirth, Oshkosh, at 155 pounds, and Clifford "Chippy" Lutz will oppose Jerry Gutman, Fond du Lac.

Indications are there'll be a rush for tickets for the card and the past boards already have been placed on sale at the usual places.

Refuse Dates to Hawthorne Track

Minimum Purse in Application

Chicago—(AP)—Hawthorne race track, which enjoyed the best patronage of all Chicago tracks in the past turf season and was refused dates for 1938 by the Illinois Racing commission Saturday, probably will be permitted to hold a meeting next year, it was indicated today.

The commission, which allotted dates to five other Chicago tracks while refusing them to Hawthorne, issued a clarifying statement to the effect that Hawthorne's purses were responsible for the commission's action.

The commission said Hawthorne, last March, agreed to give a graded 1937 program with a minimum purse offering of $1,000 but during the first two weeks of the Hawthorne meeting held five to seven races each day for $800 purses.

Hawthorne, in its dates application, failed to specify what its minimum offering would be, the commission said.

The commission, however, disclosed that Charles Krutkoff, Hawthorne association president, now has agreed to offer no purse less than $1,000 if given dates for 1938.

Tamper With Horses
At Bowie Race Track
Bowie, Md.—(AP)—A recurrence of sponging, outlawed by the Maryland legislature, sent Bowie officials in search today of the persons who tampered with two race horses here.

W. E. Johnson's White Sand and Master Lad had sponges placed in their nostrils yesterday in an attempt to slow down their speed. White Sand ran, but finished fourth in the fifth race. Master Lad was scratched from the sixth.

An epidemic of sponging here last year, when half a dozen horses were tampered with in that fashion, led the legislature to declare the practice a felony, punishable by law.

LASH WINS A. A. U. TITLE

Don Lash, former Indiana university distance star, won his fourth consecutive 10,000-meter cross country championship in A.A.U. competition as he led the field from start to finish at Newark, N. J. Trailing him here are two Indiana runners, James Smith (left) and Tom Deckard (right) who aided the Hoosiers to second place in team totals.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

ONE JOHNSTON post of the American Legion today announced its fight card for Dec. 9 at Armory G and it appears to be one that offers everything a fan wants.

First of all a couple of the St. Norbert college lads are coming back, Saver Canadeo and Al Scarlata, and the mere mention of their names means a lot. Saver will take on Hans Ahl and there are more than a few who'll enjoy seeing Saver win and likewise a group who'll be pulling for Hans.

Scarlat always tosses leather and he'll have plenty of opportunity against Fero—if he can catch up with him.

And then, Billy Jochman is returning and is matched with Ken Allmers. That'll probably be as prime a slugging match as you ever saw. And besides, there'll be a goodly number of Appleton boys on the card.

We'll admit we haven't gotten very excited over several cards the Legion has staged but this one looks like the stuff.

A couple weeks ago when at Marion Les Ansorge told us that his boys had had so much success in football and had taken to the game so well they weren't thinking about basketball and would just as soon stay on the gridiron. But the other evening Les' gang walked another club by a 22 to 10 score which probably indicates the Marion youngsters have forgotten football and are pointing for that state Class C case title next spring.

Marquette's recent football victory over Duquesne didn't go over so well with some of the critics who dug up the records to reveal the Ducks hadn't beaten anyone of consequence this year. But after they stopped Detroit the other day, it would appear that the Hilltoppers of Marquette can revive that win and flaunt it from the house tops.

An eastern scribe, writing about football recently said, that the "pros are superior to the semi-pros (colleges to you, palmy)". Ouch!

Some kind of a reward or honor should go to the Chi Trib headline writer who said Monday morning "Eastern Season Ends in a Blaze of Fog and Mud."

Plans for enlarging Shorewood golf course at Green Bay to 18 holes have been announced. By the way, whatever happened to that petition at the Appleton municipal course which requested enlargement of the course to 18-holes?

Carroll college had a freshman grader named Don Hofner this fall. Hope he isn't as good as the last Hofner to attend that school. I know a lot of Vikings who still remember the last one. And Albert Farina, Beloit, was on the yearling squad, too. Wonder how he ever got away from Louis Means' Gold.

Rowdy Poca, who is a Milwaukee wrestler but occasionally is mentioned as being from Kimberly, hit upon a new idea the other night after a bout at Fond du Lac. He went after the radio announcer and the station manager. That's what I call getting plenty of advertising direct. It took a couple cops to take Mr. Poca "off the air."

Looks like Eddie Jankowski has gone the way of all human battering rams in football. First he knocks the bricks out of a wall in Chicago, then he gets a possible fractured skull in Washington. When will some guys learn you can't take punishment like that and stay in there.

Did you know that—Sid White, the college back who's a sensation in Brooklyn and second high scorer in the country, attended grade school at Marinette and Green Bay and that Arnie Herber, a West high back, was his hero.

Pitt Ranked No. 1 Team in Country By Sports Experts

Panthers Given 29 of 33
First Place Votes
In A. P. Poll

NEW YORK—If you heed the fellows who look at football and write about it, Pitt's Panthers are the best collection of players in the United States this year and there's not much room for argument.

In the seventh and final weekly ranking poll of writers, made by the Associated Press, 29 of 33 experts throughout the country picked Pitt for first place. Two others split their ballot between Pitt and Fordham while single votes were cast for Fordham and Alabama for top rank. California earned second place in the balloting without getting one first place vote.

Counting 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Panthers polled 327 points to California's 277. Alabama, undefeated and untied, could take no better than fourth, and Santa Clara, also with a clean slate, tied for ninth with Notre Dame.

Gophers Fifth
A year ago Minnesota beat out Louisiana State in the final poll, but for 1937 the Gophers wound up fifth and L. S. U. eighth.

Here is the final tabulation with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis and the 1936 rankings of the teams:

First Ten	Points	1936 Ranking
Pittsburgh (29 first, 2 ties for first)	327	3
California	227	x
Fordham (1 first, 2 ties for first)	222	x
Alabama (1 first)	253	x
Minnesota	246	4
Villanova	103	x
Dartmouth	102	x
Louisiana State	97	2
(Tied) Notre Dame	90	8
Santa Clara	90	6
X-unranked.

Second ten: 11. Nebraska, 35; 12. Yale, 18; 13. Ohio State, 14; 14. Holy Cross and Arkansas, tied, 9 each; 16. Texas Christian, 8; 17. Colorado, 7; 18. Rice, 6; 19. North Carolina, 5; 20. Duke, 4.

Also ran: Vanderbilt and Auburn, each 3; Cornell, Harvard and Washington, each 1.

Washington, the West's Rose Bowl team last New Year's day, was fifth in the final 1936 poll and Nebraska ninth. Northwestern, No. 7, and Pennsylvania, No. 10, were clear out of the picture this year.

Bays Assured of Pro Loop Records

Piled Up 3,229 Yards and 220 Points in 11
Games This Fall

NEW YORK—(AP)—Although two National Football league games remain to be played, the Green Bay Packers, with their schedule completed, already are assured of one statistical championship and have another within their grasp.

The Packers, by piling up a total gain of 3,229 yards and scoring 220 points in eleven games, established themselves as offensive leaders by a wide margin. In second place, with 2,642 yards and 160 points, are the Detroit Lions, who are also through for the season.

Green Bay's record of 95 forward passes completed out of 216 attempted, for a new league standard of 43 per cent efficiency, may be tied or surpassed on Sunday when the Washington Redskins meet the New York Giants in a game that will decide the division leadership. The Redskins' record is 85 completions in 204 tries for 42 per cent.

Panthers Vote Against Any Post-Season Battle
PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Pitt's undefeated Panthers took their own bowl consideration today, although there was a possibility they might change their minds.

By a secret vote, reported to be 16-15, the gridirers rejected a proposal for any post-season contest, content with nine victories and a tie on the regular schedule.

The action constituted a "modified sit-down strike." Sports Editor Harvey Boyle of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette asserted. Although university authorities denied players had made any demands, Boyle said they had requested:

JIM BALLIET rolled a 248 game and 636 series in the K. of C. Bowling league at Elks alleys last night, turning in the best individual scores and leading the Shamrocks to a 2-game win over Fountain Lumber. Frawley and Van Able hit games of 203 and 203, respectively, for the Shamrocks. J. Loessel's 435 series was best on the Fountain score sheet.

R. Hamm banged games of 203 and 212, finishing with a 572 series, and F. Flanagan smashed a 219 as Hamm products swept three games with Schmidt's Grocery, hanging up high team game of 1,071 and high match score of 3,009. Schmied had a 220 game and 580 series and Otto a 223 game for the groceryman.

M. Schaefer's 530 series and C. Glasnap's 201 game were standouts as Schaefer's Dairy outbowed Puritan Bakers in two games. Bob Joyce's 234 and 271 and Dr. McCarty's games of 208 and 208 were highs in the Bakers' scoring.

Spilling games of 211 and 205 and winding up with a 561 series, A. Sauter led Schmidt Clothiers to a 2-game victory over Kaufman Hardware, paced by Dick Mahony who shot games of 217 and 211 and a 594 series.

L. Schreier, with 212 and 203 and a 589 series, led the Appleton State Bank to a 3-game win over Exide Batteries, headed by W. Steenis who had a 242 and 541.

A 202 game and 530 series by Parker were tops for the People's Laundry klegers as they won two in their match with Marx Jewelers. Dick Beelen rapped a 245 game and 594 series and Hartjes a 203 game for the Jewelers.

R. Abendroth rolled a 205 game and 574 series as Adler Brau took two from Rechner Cleaners, paced by Schommer's 473 series.

Willie Hoppe, Jake Schaefer Turn To French Billiard Game in Match

Draft Schedule
Meeting of Circuit Will be Held This Evening
In Appleton

Adoption of a schedule for the Outagamie County Basketball league will be the principal order of business this evening when loop officers and managers meet at the Post-Crescent building at 8 o'clock.

The player lists of the various teams not yet approved also will come up for consideration together with final details of starting league play next week.

Eight teams have joined the circuit and deposited their franchise money while a ninth has requested that it be considered in the event there is an opening or the circuit be enlarged. However, the group has indicated it would prefer to make the race with only eight teams, play a split season and finish soon enough to permit entry in some of the amateur tournaments hereabouts.

The question of a schedule is expected to prove something of a job in that several clubs will be using halls which they must share with other teams. Accordingly there probably will be a lot of shifting of dates.

Referees may also be something of a problem before the race gets started. The clubs have been asked to present candidates for jobs and while several have done so indications are that there may be a dearth of referees in the northern section of the loop.

For Tilts

Madison—(AP)—All members of the University of Wisconsin basketball squad, which opens its intercollegiate schedule against Marquette here Saturday, will take part tonight in two interclass contests at the field house.

The sophomores of the varsity squad will meet the freshmen and the juniors will meet the seniors. The sophomore-freshman game will be a 30 minute encounter and the junior-senior clash a 20 minute game. The probable lineups:

To Beaver Dam, 27-20
Oshkosh High school basketball team suffered a 27 to 20 defeat last night when it clashed with Beaver Dam High school cagers at Beaver Dam. Oshkosh is the defending champion in the Fox River Valley conference.

Oshkosh took a 5 to 2 lead at the quarter but the count was tied at 13-all at the half. In the third period Beaver Dam went ahead, 18 to 16, and then improved upon the lead in the final period. Erdlitz was high scorer for the Oshkosh five with four baskets and three field goals. Shadd, big Negro center for the losers, collected only two free throws.

Executives dropped two games to the Beaters in the Riverside bowling circuit last evening at the Arcade alleys. The Beaters were paced by R. Raese with a 540 series and B. Bell with a 200 game. For the Executives, E. Davis rolled a 559 series which showed a 194 game.

Printers took a pair from the Banders. J. Giesbers rolled a 566 series that saw a 192 and 190 for the winners while M. Ziemers' 485 was tops for the Banders.

Finishers copped the odd game from the Rulers with H. Blick blasting 230, 230, 167-627 for the winners. A. DeDecker had a 203 and T. Heigl a 200 for the same team. The losers showed a 211 and a 528 by A. Rohde while A. Lemke had a 197 and C. Schroeder a 193.

In the other match the Cutters downed the Brackets twice. For the Cutters, V. Grunst had a 203 and C. Hakker a 548; for the Brackets, A. Aristom rolled a 192 and 519.

Mugs Recover Losses

Trade Rumors Fly As Minor League Conclave Begins

Medwick Will be Traded

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Rumors flew today like fungus in a spring training camp as registration began for the annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

Many of the league's notables, however, had been here for a day or two in one of the largest pre-convention attendances on record.

Late arrivals yesterday included Manager Bill Terry of the New York Yankees and his minor league lieutenant and former third baseman, Manager Travis Jackson of the Jersey City club in the International League.

Terry immediately closeted himself in a hotel room, and fresh impetus was given to the currently top rumor that the Giants were interested in Van Lingle Mungo, fireball pitcher given a failing mark in deportment by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Another in unfamiliar "civies" was Frankie Frisch, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was assisting in holding up one of the pillars in the lobby of the convention hotel (Schroeder). No rumors concerned Frisch, particularly except the 100 per cent denial of the story that Joe Medwick, Frisch's outfielder, would be traded at either the Milwaukee or subsequent Chicago meeting.

Ryan May Succeed Schalk
A rumor apparently gaining strength last was that John (they can't beat us) Ryan, reserve infielder, would succeed Ray Schalk as manager of the Buffalo Bisons in the International League.

Returned last week to the American association, where he gained his first fame as a catcher, to manage Norman Perry's Indianapolis club.

Rumors not connected with play-off were present. President Dan W. Hill of the Piedmont league made duplicate denials that he had it in mind to resign his present office, or to assume leadership of the Southern association. "You never heard of a Republican resigning any office," Hill scoffed.

Fiery Meetings
The often fiery meetings of the Piedmont league are scheduled to be continued today, with a dispute between Norfolk and Portsmouth over territorial rights, related to night baseball at Portsmouth, the chief bone of contention.

A meeting of the International league also was scheduled for today.

White-haired Judge William G. Bramham of Durham, N. C., was here to preside over the sessions of the National association, however, is not scheduled until 11 a. m. Wednesday. That will give the major league managers scheduled to be present plenty of time to talk business with their associates in leagues of lower classification.

Deny Deal
Although denied by officials of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, the report persisted that a deal had been put through sending Lin Storti, Frenchy Unhalt, and George Blaholder, all members of the Milwaukee Brewers last year, to the Hollywood Coast league club.

Clarence (Pants) Rowland, former owner of the Brewers and now score to the Chicago Cubs, insisted Tony Lazzeri would not at any time during the 1938 season be appointed as manager of the Cubs or serve in any other way but as a coach or utility infield man.

There were rumors too, that the Cubs had offered Pitcher Larry French, and outfielders Augie Galan and Tuck Stainback for pitcher Van Lingle Mungo of the Dodgers.

Star Guard Lost to Chicago Cage Squad
Chicago (AP)—The University of Chicago basketball squad has picked up where the Maroon football team left off.

The Maroons haven't lost a game because they won't open their court schedule until Saturday night, against De Paul, but they've lost the services of Bob Fitzgerald, regular guard for two years. Fitzgerald, star end on the grid squad, suffered a side injury this fall and has been advised to forego basketball competition.

Despite this setback, Maroon court prospects are unusually bright, with veterans from the 1936 squad for every position.

La Verne Moore Wants To Keep Montague Name
Los Angeles (AP)—Golfier John Montague, who was disclosed publicly as La Verne Matthew Moore when he was arrested on a robbery charge several months ago, wants to drop his old name.

Montague, who won acquittal on the New York State robbery charge set forth in a petition that the name John Montague had acquired a commercial and sentimental value. Moore said he was born in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1904.

Hearing was set for Jan. 6.

RUPPERT PAYS
New York (AP)—Basketball is costing Col. Jake Ruppert money. It's this way: When the Yankees forbade Joe DiMaggio to play basketball this winter they took away a chunk of dough from him that owner Ruppert will have to make up when contract-signing time rolls around.

Stub Allison's Gridders are Students; 'Gorillas' Not Wanted

BY SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer
BERKELEY, CALIF.—There was a good story behind the decision of California to make the 1938 Rose Bowl event a college football game of the old-fashioned kind.

California, it seemed, had long since believed that the best students made the best football players.

So the university decided the boys performing at Pasadena New Year's day would all be students of the arts and sciences and would be playing football for exercise.

They would not be gorillas signed up by the athletic office and sent to classes as an afterthought.

This keynote was struck by Coach Stub Allison (once of the University of Wisconsin) even before leaving the field where California clinched its Rose Bowl invitation by its 13-0 victory over Stanford.

"Make it clear," he asked newspapermen, "that every man on this squad is a legitimate student of California and the team really represents the student body."

Kenneth Priestley, graduate manager, said:

"In the Rose Bowl we hope to meet an opponent whose athletic and academic standards are comparable to our own."

Golden Bears
1937 Record
California 30; St. Mary's 7
California 21; Oregon State 6
California 27; Wash. State 0
California 14; Pacific 0
California 14; Calif. Aggies 0
California 20; U. S. C. 6
California 27; U. C. L. A. 14
California 0; Washington 0
California 26; Oregon 0
California 13; Stanford 0

Followers of sport in this region knew the Golden Bear officials were not talking through their hats. When the Rose Bowl committee had a hand in inviting the eastern teams, California once balked strongly at meeting a college team whose recruiting methods were not considered according to Hoyle.

Wanted: Students Only
It was this policy, recalls Brick Muller, official historian of California football, that not only kept the institution's conscience clear but produced the "wonder teams" of 1920 and succeeding years.

When the late Andy Smith was brought to Cal to resuscitate football he laid down the law: "I only want men on my teams who came to college primarily to study."

Even in 1916 such a stand produced a few titbits, but Smith stuck to it and produced these squads which have kept boys alive in the recent dark years when the Bears have seen no Rose Bowls and mighty few goal lines.

There is lots of discussion hereabouts as to whether the 1937 team constitutes another "wonder team."

Chief weakness as compared with its great predecessor is the lightness of the line, which averaged 187 pounds starting the Stanford game. However, with such a few of strength at center as Bob Herwig, many say even this department tops the wonder teams.

In the backfield, the weight of critical opinion here is to hand the palm to the 1937 California aggregation.

The name that has been heard most during the season has been that of Vic Bottari, an all-around athlete who has been the running and passing sensation of the season. In the big game with Stanford, however, he was eclipsed by teammate Chapman, kicker, passer, runner, blocker and tackler extraordinary. Chapman is getting belated recognition as one of the greatest backs in the U. S.

Competition Too Hard
Chapman, incidentally, intends to go into professional baseball when he graduates next spring.

Day Anderson, the hard-smashing fullback, was the outstanding star in the brilliant company. Johnny Meek, the quarter, has heard his name sung on all sides since the Stanford game.

In his third year since taking over Bill Ingram's job as head coach at California, Leonard B. (Stub) Allison has brought his team not only to the conference championship but through one of the most difficult schedules in the U. S. The Bears scheduled eleven games—and they'll keep to that. December contest with Georgia Tech at Berkeley will be postponed until 1938.

Allison Doesn't Care
Who Gets Rose Bowl Bid
San Francisco (AP)—Coach Leonard (Stub) Allison of University of California said today he didn't care what team the Golden Bears play in the Rose Bowl and that anyone Graduate Manager Kenneth Priestley picks is all right with him.

With withdrawal of University of Pittsburgh, unofficial No. 1 choice, Priestley's decision seemed narrowed down between Fordham and Alabama. Sports writers called it a toss-up which will be invited to the New Year's day game at Pasadena.

Always secretive, Priestley said only "no comment" when told of Pittsburgh's decision and would not say whether the Panthers were under consideration anyway.

RIPON GETS STUHLREHER
Ripon—Harry Stuhlreher, University of Wisconsin athletic director, will be guest speaker at the annual high school football dinner here Tuesday night this week.

The dinner is sponsored by local Kiwanis and Rotary clubs in honor of college and high school athletes.

HAPPY OCCASION, UNHAPPY COACH
Coach Stub Allison of California's Golden Bears looked like this at the game wherein his team won the Rose Bowl nomination against Stanford, 13-0. Maybe Coach Allison was wondering where California could find a team leading the field in football and in the classroom league as well.

WHAT BECOMES OF THE ANTLERS?
By Cal Johnson
IT IS COMMON KNOWLEDGE to most sportsmen that certain members of the deer family shed their antlers. However, many wonder why more of the shed horns are not discovered when traversing the woodland trails. Up the Cherry River from Ostabonning lake in northwestern Quebec is a region where scores of shed moose antlers have been seen. In Deer Creek park, Wyoming, during the early days, the mountain sides where elk wintered were covered with hundreds of old horns.

The theory has been advanced that the reason more antlers are not found is because of the rapidity with which they disintegrate. Horns that have been freshly dropped in December will begin to crack and split by early summer, and by August they will have practically disappeared. It is believed that the rapid disappearance of the horns in most sections is due entirely to their being eaten by rodents. Mice, squirrels and porcupines often eat the antlers for the salt they contain.

In the desert ranges in Mexico, skulls and horns of mountain sheep lie exposed to the weather for twenty years or more before disintegrating. Antlers which fall on moist ground disappear the more quickly. They soften and many times are consumed by rodents before the buck itself has grown a new set. Horns that fall on flat rock ledges or in very dry places remain too flinty to be eaten by rodents and only disintegrate slowly from natural causes.

Big game animals shed their horns at different seasons. Records taken in Yellowstone National Park show that the prong-horned antelope begin to drop their horns the latter part of October and are finished shedding by the latter part of November. Elk shed from the first of March to the first of May. White-tailed deer ordinarily shed their horns from January 15 to February 20, while mule deer are earlier, covering a period from January 6 to March 25.

covers and thank his lucky stars he is home and not on the trail. Wolves, as a rule, do not attack humans. The animals are really cowards and avoid man at all times. We have listened to thrilling tales of wolves attacking and killing men, some of which are true, but such occurrences are the exception rather than the rule. When game is scarce and the animals are extremely hungry they might attack a man, but with things normal we should never fear them. Their howl is perhaps the more cause for us to shudder, rather than any possibility of meeting them in combat along the snowy trail.

THE YELP OF THE WOLF
The yelp of the wolf is heard almost nightly during the crisp cold nights in the northwoods. The cry of the pack as it scents the hot trail of the rabbit or deer penetrates the chilly atmosphere and the blood-curdling voices cannot help but cause the red blood to scamper madly through your veins as you listen from the open window of your northern cabin.

Midwinter is perhaps the best time to listen to the wolves howl. The colder the night and the brighter the moon the more prolonged is their hunt and their high-pitched cry seems to penetrate more sharply. Just at dusk they will commence to wander through the underbrush and thick forest growth in quest of fresh meat and their hunt usually lasts until the morning sun peeps over the eastern horizon. We have listened to them howl at intervals throughout the night from our snug log cabin in the northwoods. Many times I have wrapped a blanket around my shoulders and stood in the doorway to listen as the wolves chased their quarry into a thicket close to my abode.

The tone of their cry told me distinctly just what was taking place. First there comes the series of yelps and yodeling as the wolves aggregate and form the pack, which may be anywhere from three to six or more animals. Then comes the silence of the hunt until game is scented. A wild series of howls, like howls and yelps comes from their throats as they corner their deer, then one or two of the frenzied animals leap for the hamstrings of the unfortunate deer and down he comes, a victim to the hungry animals. The noise and tumult that follows for several minutes tells of the tragedy of the forest. Then silence again prevails as the slinking form again prevails as the deer disappears in the undergrowth, then disappear in the surrounding thicket where they sleep most of the day with full stomachs. The big timber wolf of the northwoods is gradually disappearing from the central west, but the brush wolf seems to be increasing in numbers in some areas. The brush wolf is smaller than the timber wolf, but considerably larger than the prairie coyote. In Canada we have the mammoth lobo, the largest member of the wolf family. His cry is much louder than the brush wolf and ends with a wailing tone much like the high-pitched strains of a steam calliope. A cold, still night in the great north country with the timber wolves and lobos howling is enough to make a hardened outdoorsman duck his head under the

When a big game is scheduled in Durham, Duke recruits North Carolina's covers at $500 a throw. . . . Popper Sol Goldberg wouldn't take $5,000, 000 for his five sons. . . . (And Pitt wouldn't take that much for just one of them.) . . .

Mike Jacobs is urging the anti-Nazi league to reconsider its boycott of the Max Schmeling-Harry Thomas fight and continues picketing Mike's hippodrome. . . . Al Lezowski, Pittsburgh, celebrated his first appearance below the Mason-Dixon line and his 23rd birthday the same day. . . . Casey Stengel is going to the Milwaukee and Chicago baseball meetings with a pocket full of dough.

Ought to be quite a passing duel between Slingin' Sam Baugh and Ed Danowski when the Giants meet the Washington Redskins here Sunday. . . . The guy who pitches the most strikes not only will be rated the best passer among the pros this season but he likely will toss his team right into the Eastern championship and the playoff against the Chicago Bears. . . . Baugh has completed more passes and gained more ground so far, but Danowski's average in completing them is better. . . . H. Holly Grims has traded Van Mungo during the baseball meetings (and he says he will if he can get a good enough offer) it won't be to the Giants. . . . Those Flatbush fans would insist on getting a whole pennant-winning club before they'd stand for giving Van the guy and they wouldn't like it. . . . Most popular team when it comes to post-season bids is Chicago's Austin High. . . . Everybody wants to see young Bill De Correvont in action. . . . But they're going to play at Memphis because Coach Bill Heiland promised last year they would.

Here's a picture of Eddie Jankowski, Packers fullback, who suffered a severe head injury in the game with Washington last Sunday, as he looked up from his hospital bed and smiled at his nurse, Polly Baker. Reports from Washington today were that the former Wisconsin back was "getting along pretty well." An examination was to be made today to determine whether there had been a skull fracture.

Parole System Is
Topic of Speech

A. W. Vlack Guest Speaker
At Meeting of Seymour Woman's Club

Seymour—A. W. Vlack of Wau-paca, member of the board of control, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Woman's club held on Friday evening at the Falck hotel.

His subject was "Parole and Probation in Wisconsin" in which he emphasized that changes should be made to prevent crime and that there should exist an institution between that of the prison and parole where some of the persons convicted might have a chance to earn a wage for their families rather than be in the company of the hardened criminal.

After the talk there was a discussion led by Principal E. T. Hawkins. A musical program preceded the talk at which time Mrs. Orville Fiestadt sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. Genevieve Trace at the piano and the violin obligato played by Mrs. T. T. Hawkins. Two numbers were sung by the high school girls' quartet and guitar numbers were played and sung by Darrell Mueller.

About fifty members and guests attended the meeting at which the men were the special guests.

'Personality' Is Topic of Speech At Clintonville

F. D. Hurley Principal
Speaker at Meeting
Of Rotarians

Clintonville—F. D. Hurley of this city talked to his fellow Rotarians Monday on "Personality." He showed how a person giving interviews can nearly always judge the ability of an individual and predict whether or not he will be successful in his chosen field. To illustrate this point, Mr. Hurley cited a report made a few years ago by a professor in a well-known college. After interviewing a number of young men of the freshman class, the professor gave a report, which turned out later just as he had predicted.

Of six young men he said: No. 1 has ability, lots of grit and energy; will finish near the top. No. 2 has a good mind, fairly well-prepared, but low and pleasure loving; will be a good teacher, but will not shine in his studies; No. 3 has ordinary mind, but in all respects seems to be a good teacher, but will not finish his first year; No. 4 is able but nervous, also excitable and moody, likely to break down in health unless he exercises regularly; No. 5 and 6 are smart and enterprising, but very conceited and will make trouble.

Mr. Hurley also showed how moral and mental attributes were more important than physique for developing personality. The three most important attributes he said, are: self-control, self-confidence and courtesy. The speaker illustrated how persons often develop disagreeable personalities by forming bad habits. In his closing remarks, Mr. Hurley showed how personality and individuality are developed through membership in Rotary.

Childs is one of the strong factors in drawing men to join the clubs, he maintained.

Plans were also made for a "Ladies Night" party next Monday evening, Dec. 6, at Hotel Marston.

Miss Dolly Webster of Bremerton, Wash., who has been spending the last summer in Wisconsin, arrived here Sunday from Manitowish to spend several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ever. Miss Webster will help care for her nephew, Mr. Ever, who is convalescing from a severe illness with pneumonia.

Salem Evangelical Ladies Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon at the church parlors. Officers will be elected and following the business session, a Christmas party will be held. The afternoon will close with a covered-dish luncheon.

Miss Bertha Schroeder, Waukegan, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hakeb and daughter Frances of Wilmette, Ill., returned to their homes Sunday after visiting relatives here since Thanksgiving day.

Miss Kathleen Stanley returned Sunday to her teaching duties at Burnett, after spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. C. B. Stanley.

Mrs. Gust Fillnow entertained 12 high school boys at a 6 o'clock dinner Sunday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Fillnow's sixteenth birthday anniversary. Twelve tables of "fifty" were played, with prizes going to Florian Goerlinger and Ralph Hyde.

Winners Announced
At Amateur Contest

Royalton—The amateur contest Wednesday evening at the Grange hall was largely attended. Prizes were awarded to the following: first to The Channing brothers of New London; second, to Mrs. Ensign Feathers of Royalton; and third, to Frances Amador of Royalton.

Mrs. Feathers is 73 years of age. Her selection was a song, entitled, "The Bonnie Wee Window." Mrs. Feathers was born in this locality and has resided here practically all her life. She is the mother of three children, two sons, Oliver of Royalton, and William of Little Wolf, and one daughter, Mrs. Henry Heimbruch, also of Royalton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Feathers celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday evening.

The Parent-Teacher meeting was held at the Grange hall on Tuesday evening. Assemblyman Alvin Handrick was the speaker.

Judge Hears Both Sides in Strike At Canning Plant

Session Today Follows Conference With Labor Board Representative

New London—Officials of the Hamilton and Sons Canning company and representatives of the newly organized Canning Factory Employees local met before Circuit Judge Byron B. Park at Stevens Point at 10 o'clock this morning in an effort to settle the strike which has kept the New London plant idle since last Tuesday.

A 3-hour conference between company and union officials with Herman Rauch, Milwaukee, conciliator for the state labor relations board as mediator, brought the two dissenting parties closer together yesterday afternoon, but they reported, no definite or final agreement was reached.

Meeting at the office of Chief of Police Harry D. Macklin from 1 until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon were Henry Hamilton and the company's attorney, C. H. Cashin of Stevens Point; R. W. McFarlin, Milwaukee, organizer for the American Federation of Labor Hod Carrier and Common Laborers' union; Ellis Hunter, business agent for the Frank's cannery factory local; Henry Hogg, Clifford Savall, Earl Dain and Alvin Schaefer, all of New London local's arbitration committee; Sheriff Duncan Campbell and District Attorney Paul E. Roman of Waupaca county; Chief Harry Macklin and Mayor E. W. Wendlandt.

With the approval of union officials and accompanied by them, Sheriff Campbell stationed four strategic deputies in the Hamilton plant last night to see that no damage occurs to the building or property within.

Council Defeats Proposed Grant For Decorations

Suggestion of Merchants That City Pay Cost Is Lost in Tie Vote

New London—A request from the New London Chamber of Commerce that the city bear the cost of Christmas holiday street decorations this year was turned down by the common council at a special meeting at the city hall last night when aldermen deadlocked the vote on the motion.

The plan was recommended by A. R. Margraff of the finance committee who met previously with representatives of the chamber of commerce. The merchants felt they could not stand the cost of the decorations this year, Margraff reported. In previous years the merchants have paid the cost of decorations materials and the city has furnished the labor and electricity for lighting.

Decorations were estimated to cost about $60, labor and electricity about $40 for the season. Voting for an appropriation by the city were Aldermen William Litts, Carl Lindner, Harold Piegner, A. R. Margraff and Otto Stern; against the proposal were Leon Springmeyer, Theodore Thomas, Harry Emans, William Behm and Frank Meating. All agreed the city must have the street decorations for the proper holiday spirit and community impression regardless of the method of finance. They readily agreed to the same arrangement as in past years. Aldermen voted 4-4, essentially a community enterprise.

Deer Hunters Report Bad Weather and Worse Luck

BY ALVIN J. BRAULT

New London—Friday was wet and slushy, Saturday it was so foggy you couldn't see a road, Sunday it was too cold to do anything—that's the way deer hunters described the season as they returned home in droves Sunday and yesterday without that all-important buck.

Hunting was generally reported the worst in years. One or two deer to a party of six or eight was good and many returned without even seeing an animal. On the other hand, some reported deer plentiful in their hunting grounds, particularly does. It was the first time in 25 years that sportsmen hunted two years in succession.

A total of 190 deer tags were sold by New London agents, twice that of last year, and only half as many deer as last year were brought back by hunters in and around New London. A good count is 25 against 50 of last year. Nimrods said checking wardens reported 2 per cent of the hunters were successful.

Tom Hutchison, 227 Wisconsin street, 74 years old and reputed to be the oldest active deer hunter in these parts, restored his reputation of 45 years of successful excursions when he returned with a 10-point, 175-pound buck. He missed his deer for the first time last year and in 1932 had an animal stolen from him.

Hutchison was a member of a rather successful party as Fred LaMarche, Jr., also dropped an 8-point buck with him near Star Lake in Vilas county. Fred LaMarche, Sr., was with them. They reported deer plentiful.

Lucky on First Trip
Kenneth Bleck was successful on his first deer hunt and bagged a buck up past Eagle River. Orville Froelich and Leonard Dernbach with him didn't fare as well. Another enthusiastic tenderfoot, Melvin Seefeldt, returned empty-handed in company with Ervin Fakir. They hunted around Westbrook.

One of the largest parties which usually results a high percentage of kills returned without a buck yesterday after more than three days in the Land O' Lakes region north of Eagle River. In the group were Clyde Roepke, L. J. Manske, Dr. M. A. Borchardt, Harvey Greenlaw, Kenneth Breiting and his dad, Dr. H. Breiting of Green Bay, Edward Hetzer, Herman Jacobs of Greenville, and Ray Wochinski who went along as cook.

In another party Dr. J. W. Monsted, Dr. E. Lyon and Roy Stroeger, who were without luck but Ben Freeman brought back his deer. They hunted near Fence, Wis. Ray Thomas, superintendent of the city light and water works, accompanied a party from Marshfield and had no luck. In a camp of 30 hunters just northeast of Phillips he said only two small bucks were shot. Does were plentiful and tame.

Two 215 Pounds
Two of the largest specimens reported were brought down by W. T. Comstock, local publisher, and Orville Gorges. Each recorded a weight of 215 pounds. Comstock hunted with his wife near their cabin on Maiden Lake in Oconto county and bagged his game on the first day. Gorges was with Rudy Ploetz and Ferdinand Gruetzmaier west of Canover and his partners failed to get a fatal shot.

Clarence Fuest shot a 200-pounder and Minor Stoehr took a buck in a party of five near Florence. Harvey Boltz, Henry Hanke and Milton Murray were the unlucky ones. In their region they reported 38 hunters totaled three bucks among them.

Three out of six was the record of a party which included Harvey Romberg, Dr. T. L. Knapstein and Arthur Emott of Greenville as the favored ones. They returned Sunday but Leo Schreiter and Harry Hassinger, Greenville, and Stanley Bauman, Appleton, remained at the spot west of the Land O' Lakes region till the end of the day in hopes of some quarry. Their luck was not reported further yesterday. William M. Knapstein with Ed Smith of Sisco led the hunting honors fall on Smith's son Jack who got his buck. Ed Glock with them returned without a deer as usual. The party tried their luck around Columbus Lake.

Clergymen Get None
Among the clergymen there was little success this year as the Rev. I. P. Boettcher of Maple Creek, the Rev. P. J. Skell of Lebanon, and the Rev. R. R. Holliday of the New London Methodist church returned without venison. The Rev. Mr. Boettcher was near Parish in Langlade county, the Rev. Mr. Holliday created his two boys, Ralph and Ernest, on a trip into the woods around Goodman. In their party of 16, three got deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hanson left with high spirits but went in vain with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dennison, Bear Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weigel, Waupaca, for their entry party failed to sight deer near Clam Lake at Park Falls. The party went Wednesday and returned late last night. They saw does aplenty.

L. J. Polaski is the possessor of a 190-pound buck which he shot while hunting with Art McHugh and Bud Bauman of Hortonville near Nelma, in Forest county. Andy Laib got buck near Pogimaw Lake. Lou Schauer of Marion and M. Waushesock were with him. George Edminster, Jr., bagged a buck while George, Sr., and his brother Milton of Eland and his son, returned with nothing.

Arent is Successful
Norbert Arent again succeeded in dropping his buck while his companions, Gerald Dent and George Humblet, were keenly disappointed in their luck around Three Lakes. In the same region Ben Bessette downed his limit with a gang from Monico. Three out of 14 in his party were successful.

One buck among six hunters was the tally of a group hunting near Elcho. Ivan Beckert was the lucky marksman and his companions were Ed Lathrop, Irvin Popke, Earl Plowman, William Graichen and Herbert Bacon. Another party near Townsend hunted only one day and gave up without a shot because of the weather. In the group were Ed Dobberstein, John Cottrill, Kenneth Cottrill, Earl "Ted" Laib, and Lou Drexler, Manitowoc.

William Stern, Sr., the carpenter, returned with a deer from Sawyer near Tomahawk lake. Al Stern, police officer, his hunting comrade, was successful. George Schriver, principal of Lincoln Junior High school, hunted for one day and quit because of the weather. George Spurr, Mayson and Luther Kraus tramped the woods near Mercer and saw nothing.

Lyle McCully at least was with a gang that brought back one buck. Walter Schroeder of Clintonville did the shooting and others of the Trucker city in the party were George Stevens and Melvin Kirshner.

Three Bad Days
The Sterns, Walter, Gerhardt, and Ervin, saw about a hundred does around Sawyer and Star Lake but nary a buck. With them were Leo Holsten and Russell Johnson, Harold Bleck, Walter Kading and Irvin Tesch spent three bad days near Newald and returned with nothing.

Getting back to some who got something, Charles Bressette, the barber, and Charles Nicolai each popped a buck near Solon Springs, Douglas county. Clarence Whitman wasn't so fortunate. John Moudry bagged his quarry while his companion, Maynard Burton, failed. (Lonidas) Ritchie returned with one and so did George Elser. Ed Stern, who proved his seniority over his sons Ed, Jr., and Edwin when he secured his.

William and Aaron Abel each brought back a big buck from Forest county. With them was 10-year-old grandson, William. Bob Monsted got one while hunting with Hugh Cartwright of Appleton. Oda Nader of Waupaca, formerly of this city, secured a buck.

Return Empty-Handed
Among the unfortunates were Dr. C. E. Hammerberg and son Herbert who hunted around Long Lake in Florence county with a large party they joined there. They saw none. A. W. Dobberstein and William Scherke returned empty-handed from around Hayward. Mike Schwartz, Bill McClone and Carl Pribnow had no luck up near Glendon. Warren Wing, Martin Wing, and Art Stern failed in their hunt at Phillips. Merton Parfitt and "Butch" Kopitzke got nothing. The Muskevitch boys, Ed, Clair and Joe returned with nothing. Charles Bonnin and Walter McDermott got none; Ed, Paul and Roy Schroeder hunted near Mellon in vain; Elroy Stern failed.

Get Wolf and Bear
Deer were scarce near Eagle River where Phil Morien hunted with his brother but Phil was consoled with a wolf he bagged. The bounty is $20. Oscar Smith, Hortonville, plugged a 300-pound black bear in Langlade county. He hunted with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Reynolds and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Waite, also of Hortonville, and after getting the bear they remained no longer.

Other nimrods who purchased a deer tag in town but whose luck hadn't been reported up to last night were Andy Martin, William McKay, Albert Rolfs, Earl Affeldt, Art Winkler, Frank Specht, A. J. Peters, Matt Saindon, Earl Knuth, Harold Earl, Otto Krause, Walter

Roarers Win Tie For First Place In Lions League

Meverden Heads Charities Group

Launch Plans for Distribution of Christmas Baskets

New London—R. J. Meverden was chosen general chairman of the New London Associated Charities at a meeting of representatives of civic and fraternal groups at Washington High school last night to be-sin plans for the annual distribution of Christmas baskets to needy families in the city. Meverden succeeds H. H. Helms, superintendent of schools.

Mrs. F. J. Pfeifer was selected to continue as secretary and Thomas F. Fitzgerald was elected treasurer. On the executive committee are J. J. McDaniel, Fred Archibald, Mrs. Winifred Davy, Mrs. E. C. Jost and Henry W. Spearbraker. The officers and executive committee plan to meet Thursday night at the high school to select the various working committees.

Approximately $225 was pledged tentatively by representatives of 26

groups last night. Last year $220.50 was actually received from pledged groups and $99.50 was donated by individuals and business and industrial firms to make a total of $320. A balance of $57 remains on hand for this year.

Last year 106 baskets were distributed at a total cost of $302. It is expected the need to be equally as great this year if not greater. In 1935, 116 baskets were prepared at a cost of $298; in 1934, 155 baskets for $284; and the first year in 1933, 128 boxes for $177.

Approximately $225 was pledged tentatively by representatives of 26

Kiwanis Official Lauds Neenah Club For 'Lung' Project

'Get Things Done by Streamlining Ideas,' Rork Says

Neenah—Get things done by streamlining ideas, turn out new models and make aspirations fit the world today, advised Glen Rork, Eau Claire, governor of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis district at an interclub meeting of Neenah, Appleton, Oshkosh, and Seymour organizations Monday night at the Valley Inn.

"Serve that others may dream" was the theme of the governor's talk and he congratulated Neenah Kiwanians for sponsoring the purchase of the "iron lung," citing that service as one which might result in saving lives, "that others may dream."

Warning Kiwanians against streamlining foundations upon which their organization was built, he advised them to assume the theme of the 1940 New York exposition—fashion, color, time and chemistry.

Elaborating on the 4-point theme, Rork stated: "Do things of mode on sound foundations to keep life an activity. Put color into drab clubs. Time is the essence of it all, so do it now, there being no need for high pressure salesmanship. The world is better because of its chemical makeup, for action certainly is needed."

Suggest 'Open Forum'

He urged the Kiwanians to "conduct your clubs as an open forum, clearing away doubts and letting the club live, for there is work to be done."

Happiness offers a broad highway of service," the governor concluded, "and if we serve, giving confidence of sound and sane thinking, it is reflected in the nation, internationally, locally and even to your families."

Twenty-six members of Appleton, Oshkosh and Seymour Kiwanis clubs attended the meeting and were introduced by President A. C. Haselwood, Norton Williams, former district governor, introduced the speaker.

Organization Growing

The district governor informed the clubs that eight new clubs had joined in the district and two former clubs had been revived with 35 new members entering. He also stated that finances were sound.

Five Neenah high school students, under the direction of Lester M. Band instructor, furnished the musical program. Gregory Smith gave a cornet solo, "Espanita," and George Elwers also presented a cornet solo, "Carnival in Venice." The boys then gave a cornet duet, "Venus." They were accompanied at the piano by Farley Hutchings.

Trombone duets were given by Ruth John and Lorraine Johnson. "Wishing That Dreams Would Come True," and "Sunshine of Mine." They were accompanied at the piano by Beatrice Stilt. Lorraine Johnson also rendered a vocal selection, "By the Bend of the River." She was accompanied by Ruth Johnson.

Al Nitz, a member of the Appleton club, sang two numbers.

1,800 Visit Safety Education Trailer

Menasha Vocational School Sponsors Appearance Yesterday

Menasha—Eighteen hundred persons last night visited the safety education trailer which stopped in Menasha yesterday and today, according to Captain H. C. Berry. The $32,000 cruiser is on a tour of safety education work and stopped here through the sponsorship of the Menasha Vocational school.

All classes of the Menasha public schools also visited the cruiser today and heard lectures and saw movies emphasizing safety. The cruiser is one of five which has been on tour in the United States for the last five years. It is on the way south now to spend the winter touring Texas.

The cruiser is electrified throughout. The count of visitors was made with an electric eye. There is a completely electrified kitchen, two way radio set, and intercommunicating telephone for conversation between the trailer and driver's cab. A crew of six is carried by the trailer.

A hospital ward with four beds and a trained nurse is also contained in the cruiser. The trailer is as completely equipped as a house, even to a shower bath.

Montonati Talks at Meeting of Barbers

Menasha—Ray Montonati reported that he had talked at the meetings of a majority of other Twin City labor union locals at the meeting of Barbers' local 834 at the Twin City Union club night. His talks, made during the last month, defined union and non-union shops.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Neenah Student Is Working for Center Post on U. W. Team

Neenah—Bryon Bell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Bell, 518 Maple street, is competing with Charles Jones, Freeport, Ill., for the center position on the University of Wisconsin varsity basketball squad according to reports from the state university campus athletic department.

Bell, a junior, was regular center on the varsity team last year but Jones, who stayed out of school last year after playing regularly at center on the Wisconsin team for two years, has been showing much promise.

When the juniors play the senior members of the squad tonight in the university court, Jones will be center on the seniors team and Bell will have the pivot position for the juniors.

It is probable that both Bell and Jones will see action against Marquette when Wisconsin opens its 1937-38 basketball season at Madison Dec. 4.

Pintas Increase Pin League Lead

Win Three Games From Marquettes in Knights Of Columbus Loop

Neenah—Winning three straight games from the Marquettes, the Pintas increased their lead over the Santa Marias to two full games in the Knights of Columbus bowling league Monday night at the Neenah alleys.

James Wrase copied individual hours in league play last night, rolling 229 for high individual single game and 567 for high individual series. Ed Fahrback took second high individual series with 531.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Mrs. Ruth Falvey, Neenah and Mrs. Russell Flom, 346 Park street, with Mrs. Silas Spengler, chairman, make up the general committee of the Neenah-Menasha King's Daughters making preparations for distributing Christmas baskets to 25 families in Neenah and Menasha. Last year the King's Daughters distributed 28 baskets but higher cost of foodstuffs this year will curtail the program somewhat.

Veterans of Foreign Wars and Auxiliary, at special meeting Monday evening for the purpose of discussing plans for the Sixth district conference to be held here Sunday, Dec. 5, decided to postpone the conference until Jan. 16 because of the short time for preparation. Mrs. Lillian Campbell was named chairman of the general committee of the auxiliary for the conference. The veterans have not yet named their committee.

Mrs. Jerry Schmitzer, Sixth street, entertained members of the T. M. T. M. club at her home Monday evening. Bridge provided entertainment with honors awarded Mrs. Schmitzer, Mrs. George Saholsky and Mrs. Henry Kuepper. Mrs. William Montanati, 360 Oak street, will entertain the club members next Tuesday evening.

Ladies of St. John's Catholic church parish will entertain at a card party Thursday evening in the school hall. Play will start at 7:30 and games will be played after cards.

Six tables of cards were in play at the home of Mrs. Grace Mueller, 828 Seventh street, Monday evening as Mrs. Mueller entertained for the benefit of the Juniors of Women's Benefit association. Prizes in schafkopf went to John Taggart and John Scanlon and in whist to Mrs. Nellie Emmett and Miss Nellie Hussey.

Group 2, Ladies society, First Congregational church, will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening in the social hall. Mrs. Earl Cleveland and Mrs. Bertha Grant will be hostesses.

Ladies Society of First Congregational church will have a one o'clock luncheon meeting Wednesday in the church. Junior group members will be hostesses.

Guild of St. Thomas will meet Wednesday in the parish house of St. Thomas Episcopal church with luncheon planned at noon.

Menasha Crews Put Up Christmas Decorations

Menasha—Workmen yesterday began placing Christmas decorations upon Menasha streets. Standards are being placed on the ornamental light posts from which Christmas trees will lean at an angle over the street. The trees will be decorated with colored lights. The decorations will extend from the last block on the south end of Racine street and along Main street.

Local business firms are contributing funds for the decoration which are being sponsored by the Menasha Garden club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Business Men's association.

Other observance of Christmas will include the joint choral program of St. Mary and Menasha high school students and the home decorations contest for which prizes have been offered.

New Supper Hour Class Will Meet at Garage

Menasha—The first meeting of the Supper Hour class will be held tomorrow evening from 5 to 7 o'clock in the municipal garage. All business girls are invited to attend.

The class is a part of the vocational school program and will be under the direction of Miss Amelia Horn. After the new Menasha High school is completed, the class will be held there instead of the garage.

COLLECT IN 1ST DISTRICT

Menasha—Rubbish collection will be made in the First district tomorrow, according to the city health officer, H. O. Haugh. The Menasha side of the Island is included in the district.

Lions Blame Weather for Poor Deer Hunting Results

Menasha—Tall stories of deer hunting, chiefly without the backing of a fine buck, entertained the Lions club at the Monday noon meeting at Hotel Menasha. C. A. Heckrodt, Roman Fahrback and N. F. Verbrick, members of the club who had been hunting during the 3-day season, gave reports.

Much of the poor luck this season was blamed on weather conditions. Fahrback declared that only Sunday was ideal hunting weather, the first days being too warm. He declared that there were many hunters this year and also that there were many doe and fawn seen.

N. F. Verbrick, only successful hunter in the club, described his feat. "The buck came up, stood, and I shot him the first morning." He saw 35 deer in the first five hours he was on the run, including one herd of 12 from which he shot the buck.

Verbrick stated that hunters in general had poor luck. Where camps of eight or 10 hunters last year had a deer for each man, this year there often were only two or three or even none. Much of the land in Vilas county was posted, interfering with hunting.

C. A. Heckrodt told of coming across some tracks in the snow which he thought might have been made by a bear cub. He followed them to a stump and chased out a porcupine. He amused himself by throwing snowballs at it until the animal climbed to the top of a nearby tree. Heckrodt took a shot.

Receive 250 Requests For 'Derby' Stickers

Neenah—National Rowboat Derby and Winnebago and White bass festival, of which Neenah Lions club was one of the sponsors, have been over for several months but continue to get publicity as calls are received for advertising stickers used during the events. It was estimated Monday that more than 250 requests have been received for the stickers, requests coming from 30 states in the union and from Canada. Most recent among the requests have been from persons in Colorado, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Florida.

Dim Lights for Safety

Menasha Cagers Engage in First Scrimmage Drill

Bluejays Handle Ball Well; Lack Shooting, Defensive Ability

Menasha—Menasha High school basketball players held their first scrimmage Monday afternoon and left Coach N. A. Calder with plenty of problems to straighten out before the first game of the season here Friday night against Clintonville.

The second scrimmage will be held this afternoon at the Butte des Morts gym against the Appleton high team of the Fox Valley conference. The scrimmage yesterday was among members of the first squad as well as the reserves.

The team handled the ball well but showed no ability on basket shooting or on defense, according to Coach Calder. The center problem has been giving the most difficulty. Bernard Middleton, Leo Osiewalski and Harry Zelinske have been alternating at the pivot position in drills.

The only returning lettermen have an edge for the guard posts. They are Captain Clifford Heiss and Mervin Schneider. Other guard candidates include Kenneth, Leo Kolasinski, William Resch and Alvin Kolasinski. David Bukysky may also work in at a guard post.

The forward positions are a scramble with Earl Block, G. Knoll, George Goesser and Henry Landskron competing for jobs.

E. Nyman Hits 256 In Engravers Loop

T. Shreve Rolls High Series of 663 on Games of 256, 205, 202

Menasha—Northwestern Engravers league bowlers had their hooks breaking right at the Hendy alleys last night as individual bowlers collected high scores. E. Nyman took individual game honors with a 265 score while T. Shreve had the high series, a 663 total on lines that included the second high game score, 256, 205 and 202.

The Leopards and Badgers tied for first place in league standings with records of 13 wins and 8 defeats each. The Badgers swept their series with the Gophers last night while the Leopards took two from the Wildcats.

The Badgers had games of 759, 775 and 795 to counts of 757, 692 and 675 for the Gophers. In addition to Shreve's high total, J. Lielewyn had games of 233 and 234 for the Badgers. W. Lockbaum had a 212 for the Gophers.

C. Jenkins and E. Nyman paced the Leopards to their two victories. Nyman had a 601 series with his top game of 265 while Jenkins had a 603 series on lines of 171, 196 and 236. A 212 by E. Westphal was the top score for the Wildcats. Game scores were 599, 753 and 864 for the Leopards to 726, 598 and 611 for the Wildcats.

E. Stoll had the second high series, a 645 on lines of 232, 193 and 220 to pace the Tigers to three victories over the Lions. Game scores were 758, 695 and 712 for the Tigers.

Use of Neenah's 'Iron Lung' Would Have Saved 5 Hours in Helmer Case

Neenah—The "iron lung" purchased by the Neenah Kiwanis club lay idle in Theda Clark hospital Thursday while a special So Line train raced with death from Stevens Point to Chicago that James Helmer, 23-year-old infantile paralysis victim, might be placed in an "iron lung," said A. C. Haselwood, president of the Neenah club, at an interclub meeting Monday night at the Valley Inn.

"Helmer died, but whether the added five hours, the time it took the train to go from Neenah to Chicago, would have saved the boy's life had he been placed in the 'iron lung' here, is problematical," Haselwood stated.

"But the pointed fact in the situation is that the knowledge that Neenah has an 'iron lung' which is at the disposal of all, must be publicized," he stressed to members of Appleton, Oshkosh and Seymour Kiwanis clubs.

He stated, however, that 65 letters were sent to newspapers in surrounding counties, one of which was a Stevens Point newspaper. Whether that newspaper published the article is not known, he said, for he didn't receive a reply to his notice.

He urged all members to spread the information, reminding them that the one "string" attached to the donation of the artificial respirator to the hospital was that it is at the disposal of all whether they have the ability to pay or not.

Menasha Man Fined $15 For Reckless Driving

Menasha—Harvey Casperson, Menasha, was fined $15 and costs by Justice of the Peace Ray J. Fink in justice court this morning when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. Casperson was arrested by Menasha police at midnight last night when he was driving on Plank road.

He was fined $15 and costs for driving on Plank road. The standings:

Leopards	W. L.

Need for Bridge Aired in Public Hearing at Neenah

Second Span Has Been Urged Since 1907, Mayor Kallfahs Testifies

Neenah—The city of Neenah presented part of its evidence to show the need for a second bridge over the Fox River to members of the state highway commission this morning during a public hearing in Appleton. The commission is now considering a project to build a second bridge over the Fox River to eliminate traffic congestion on N. Commercial street and eliminate accident hazards.

The hearing was adjourned at noon and during the afternoon session, the remainder of the evidence was given and Neenah citizens voiced their opinions as to the need for another bridge.

Commissioners Thomas Patterson and William O'Brien, C. V. Kirch, state chief engineer, and D. F. Culbertson, Green Bay district engineer, were in charge of the hearing.

Mayor Edwin A. Kallfahs opened the city's case by telling of the agitation for a bridge since 1907 and said that the need had increased tremendously the last 10 years.

City Engineer A. G. Prunuske cited possible locations for a second bridge, described population areas, traffic of students to and from the three high schools and traffic outside of Commercial street.

A. F. McArthur presented the results of a traffic study made by the city in conjunction with the Neenah Advancement association with the N. Commercial street bridge as the only connecting link between the main part of the city and the island. All traffic to and from the island, including county and state traffic, must pass over the bridge, he said.

About 200 cars an hour pass over the bridge, and during a parade there are about 1,600 cars going over the span, he said. When a fire occurs on the island during one of the three congestion periods, great difficulty results in getting the apparatus to the scene.

Another factor entering into the congestion are the two railroad tracks across N. Commercial street. At the Chicago and North Western tracks at the north end of the street, 100 trains cross the street each day and during the worst automobile congestion period, about 29 trains cross the street.

Neenah Building Totals $19,400 During November

Report for Month Reveals Sharp Decline From October

Neenah—More than $19,415 was spent in the erection of five new homes, eight garages, remodeling of homes and garages and building an addition to a gas service station during November, according to a report issued today from the office of John Elenker, assistant city building inspector.

A large increase in building was noted during the month, for during the month of October $46,585 was spent in building.

The following permits were issued: Robert Ulrich, Grant street, garage, $200; William Switchenberg, Chestnut street, two new homes and two new garages, one costing $3,000 and the other $2,500; Henry Kemps, 505 Division street, remodeling garage, $150; Carl Porath, Lorraine avenue, new home, $3,500; George Van Beck, 423 Washington avenue, garage, $150; William Redd, Fairview avenue, new home, $2,500; Mrs. George Watson, 526 Maple street, remodeling, $150; Frank L. Oberly estate, 109 W. Franklin street, remodeling, $1,000; A. E. Rhoades, 236 N. Park avenue, garage, $200; Lutheran Trinity church, 503 Oak street, garage, $275; Tri City Oil Company, 126 E. Wisconsin avenue, addition to filling station, $350; George Wiegand, Nicolet boulevard, home and garage, $4,000; Ben Schultz, S. Lake street, garage, $290.

Board of Education Asks Cooperation to Save School Windows

Neenah—The board of education took action today to curb vandalism by boys who have been breaking windows in public school buildings. C. F. Hedges, superintendent of schools, reported today. There have been a number of windows broken at the Washington school during the last week, the superintendent said, and he added that the windows were broken after dark.

"Children are welcome to play on the school grounds after school hours, but the willful destruction of school property will not be tolerated," Hedges stated.

The superintendent is asking parents to cooperate with the board of education to help check this vicious practice.

Two Slightly Injured When Auto Leaves Road

Neenah—Mr. and Mrs. Walter LaMore, 513 Isabella street, whose car skidded off an icy pavement three miles west of Winchester Sunday, suffered minor injuries. They were returning from Merrill and Mrs. LaMore was driving when the accident occurred. The car was only slightly damaged.

GUEST PREACHER

Neenah—The Rev. L. C. Viel, First Evangelical church, Oshkosh, will be guest preacher at mission services in First Evangelical church at 7:30 tonight. Miss Milson Schultz will sing. The Rev. E. D. Paulin, retired minister in Neenah, was guest speaker at the meeting last night when he spoke on "The Worthwhileness of Life."

Menasha Students to Be Taught Care of New School Property

Menasha—In an effort to prevent damage and defacing of property and furniture in the new Menasha high school building, the students are being taught care of school property in conjunction with their regular courses, according to the announcement from A. J. Armstrong, principal.

The lessons will include material on care of school property, good school citizenship, good sportsmanship in athletics and school and care of the school library. Much of the defacement of school property is done subconsciously and the hope is that advance notice will prevent damage in the new building.

The lessons will be taught to the freshmen by O. F. Johanson in the citizenship course; to the sophomores and juniors by Miss Jeanette Fox and Miss Sigrid Paulson in the history course and to the seniors by Mr. Armstrong in the class in problems in American democracy. The course will also be given in the junior high schools.

177 Neenah Students Given Schick Tests

Neenah—There were 177 Neenah high school students who took the Schick tests for diphtheria Monday morning in the cafeteria, Miss L. Evelyn Schol, school nurse, reported today. Readings to determine whether the students are immune from diphtheria or require inoculations will be held Thursday by Dr. Frank O. Brunckhorst, city health officer.

A total of 354 shots, including the control test, were given the students. Those who are not immune from diphtheria will be given toxoid injections. These tests and inoculations are voluntary on the part of the students.

Following the completion of tests for diphtheria, the students will be given small pox vaccinations provided they haven't already received them. These vaccinations are also voluntary on the part of the students.

2 Neenah Debate Teams Entered in Ripon Meet

Neenah—Robert Ozanne, Neenah debate coach and instructor in European history at Neenah High school, will take two debate teams to an invitational debate tournament at Ripon college, Ripon, Saturday, Dec. 11, it was announced today.

Mr. Ozanne has not as yet selected members of the team. Debate practice and research are being conducted daily by members of the school's debate squad.

Neenah Society

Neenah—Mrs. Susan Goggins, route 1, announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Kathryn Goggins to Leonard Nowacki, Cary, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nowacki, 907 Twentieth street, Oshkosh, at a family dinner Thanksgiving day. The wedding will take place Jan. 3 and a wedding breakfast and reception will be held at the new club room in the Valley Inn.

Young Women's council of the Twin City Y.W.C.A. will meet at 7:30 this evening in the Y to discuss plans for the year. Last year the council sponsored a series of lectures at the Y and it is probable that a similar project will be conducted this year.

A Y. club, sponsored by the Twin City Y.W.C.A., will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the Y. Plans for a Christmas party will be discussed.

Ladies of Whiting Memorial Baptist church parish will sponsor a chili luncheon and bazaar at the church Thursday. Fancy work booths and a candy sale will feature the event. A tea will be held during the afternoon. Serving of the luncheon will begin at 11:30 Thursday morning.

Mrs. A. T. Hanson will preside at the 7 o'clock Wednesday evening meeting of the nominating committee of the Twin City Y.W.C.A. at the Y.

Ladies Society of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will meet Wednesday in the parish house.

Mothers' Circle, First Presbyterian church, will meet at 2:15 Wednesday afternoon in the ladies parlors of the church. Mrs. Charles Barshaw will be in charge of devotions. At 2:30 the Rev. W. R. Courtenay, pastor, will present another of his series of talks on "History of the Presbyterian Church." Hostesses will be Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. E. W. Johnson, Mrs. A. E. Leverance and Mrs. Louis Lipinski.

Chorus choir of First Presbyterian church will meet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in the church.

Women's Union, Whiting Memorial Baptist church, will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening with the Friendship class presenting discussion on special groups of the rural church. All ladies of the church have been invited.

Kings Heralds of First Methodist Episcopal church will hold a regular meeting and party at the Boys' Club.

THE CHARACTERS

Nina, a nice girl with flaxen hair, has fallen in love with her step-father.

Richard, the charming, well-tailored stepfather, pays considerable attention to Nina.

Honey, Nina's gay, plump, youthful mother, is crazy about her new husband.

David, a young auto salesman, has begun to adore Nina.

Cordelia is Nina's closest friend.

Chapter Twelve

Hunting-Eve At Harmony

HAT night in the Capitol, they were munching popcorn out of a rustle paper bag--much to the disgust of some haughty neighbors.

"If I can wangle a car," he whispered, "would you drive down into the wilds of Long Island with me Sunday? Long Beach is fun in the winter, windy and deserted. We might find some jewelry in the sand."

"Oh, dear," she whispered back. "I wish I could, but I'm already dated to spend the weekend there... not at Long Beach, but Long Island. I'm sorry. I'm hunting, Saturday, with the Jonestown Hunt."

He managed to look properly crestfallen, even with his cheeks bulging with popcorn. "I'm delivering a car down that way, on Saturday. Maybe I'll run across you in all your glory... fact I'll cruise about looking for you. Will you wave to a poor landlubber, Nina?"

At her door, he said: "One of these days I'm going to kiss you, Nina. Pretty soon... one of these days."

She hoped that when he did, it would do something tremendous to her... but she was dreadfully afraid it wouldn't.

"Is that a promise, David?"

"I'm glad you didn't call it a threat. Yes, my dear, you can count on me."

"Goodnight, then, and thank you for the love seats."

He was looking at her with a look that was both hungry, devouring... and awed and adoring.

"What?... Er, oh, yes. Goodnight, Nina."

Nice David.

Richard and Honey, with their arms entwined, were just going up the stairs.

"That red-headed chap again, eh, Nina? Now what kind of a swain is that, who doesn't even make a move to kiss his girl good-night?"

Honey looked up at him, worshippingly.

"There was certainly nothing backward about your tactics, darling, thank heaven!"

"Come here, Nina. I'll finish that young man's job for him," and Honey stood back, laughing, as Richard kissed her daughter, slowly on the lips.

Carl and Hester

Nina was to spend the weekend with the Semples. They had been friends of the family since long before Mr. Stafford's death.

She went down Friday afternoon so as to be able to hunt with Carl on Saturday. Carl lived backward about your tactics, darling, thank heaven!

Advent Services Herald Approach Of Yule Season

Four Appleton Churches Hold Holiday Bazaars This Week

Advent services which are beginning this week in several of the Lutheran churches herald the approach of the Christmas season. The services will continue each week until the holiday.

St. Paul Lutheran church will have its advent services in English Thursday evening, the Rev. T. J. Sauer, honorary pastor, preaching the sermon. Trustees will meet Wednesday night. Last Sunday Pastor Sauer preached on "In the New Church, the Old Gospel of Christ Our Substitute." English advent services will be held at 7:45 Thursday evening at St. Matthew Lutheran church with the Rev. Philip Froehlich, pastor, giving the sermon.

The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of St. Olive Lutheran church, will preach on "The Promise of the Messiah" at the advent services at his church at 7:45 Wednesday evening. Ladies Aid society will elect officers at its meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Four churches are holding their holiday bazaars or sales this week. Today Woman's Association of First Congregational church is having its annual sale and dinner today at the church. The sale opens at 4 o'clock and a chicken pie supper will be served from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Fall Festival The fall festival sponsored by women of Zion Lutheran church will be held Wednesday in the parish school. Dinner and supper will be served from 11 to 1 and 5 to 7 o'clock, and various articles will be on sale. Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman, Mrs. Anna Staedt and Mrs. Pauline Buehholz are in general charge.

St. Matthew Ladies Aid society also will hold an annual bazaar Wednesday in the church basement. A plate dinner will be served from 11 to 2 o'clock and supper from 5 to 7 o'clock, and lunches will be served during the day. Mrs. A. D. Boelter is general chairman.

A bazaar will be given by the Society of Emmanuel Evangelical church Thursday at the church in connection with its December meeting. There will be a Christmas program at 2:30 after which a lunch will be served and fancy work and baked goods will be on sale. Mrs. Marvin Babler, vice president of the society, is in charge of the meeting and bazaar.

On Friday there will be a Women's Christian Temperance Union institute at the Evangelical church. Election of officers for the Sunday school will take place at 7:30 Wednesday night. Last Sunday the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, preached on "The Tenth Hour."

Dr. Frank M. Sheldon, pastor of the Grand Avenue Congregational church in Milwaukee, who has recently come to public notice through his work with the Milwaukee Ministerial association in investigating tavern conditions in Milwaukee, will speak at the church night worship service at 7:15 Thursday night at the First Congregational church. His subject will be "The Larger Freedom."

A fellowship dinner will be served at 6:15 Thursday night at First Methodist Episcopal church after which Mrs. J. R. Boyer, of Denver, Colo., who spent 20 years as a missionary in Burma, will speak on her experiences in the mission field. Mrs. Boyer is visiting her sister, Mrs. Erwin Saubert, N. Drew street. Mrs. Emma Dutcher's circle of Social Union will serve. Last Sunday Dr. Culver preached at the morning service on "Radiant Christianity."

Conducts Mission Dr. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for the Congregational church in Wisconsin, is this week conducting a preaching mission at Lady-smith which opened Sunday and will close next Sunday. The Rev. John E. Hanna, pastor of First Congregational church, gave a sermon Sunday morning entitled "A Fantasy on the Churchless City."

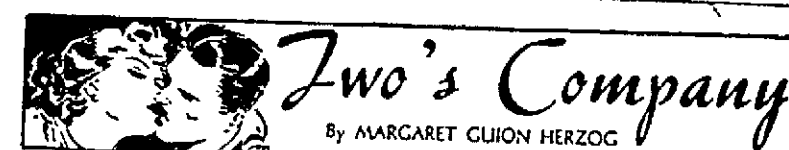

Donald Du Shane of Lawrence college will give another of his series of lectures under the auspices of Presbyterian Guild Tuesday night at the church. The sermon Sunday morning by the pastor, the Rev. Robert K. Bell, was entitled "Good Morning, Life." Prof. E. F. Kraus, D. D., of Chicago Lutheran Theological seminary, was guest preacher Sunday at Trinity English Lutheran church. A thanksgiving program was given in connection with the morning service. At First Baptist church the Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor, spoke on "The Church Faces a Challenge."

Junior social gathering was held Monday night at Zion Lutheran church. Sunday morning holy communion was celebrated at the church and the pastor, the Rev. Theodore Marth, spoke on "O Happy Land, O City Blest, Where Christ as Ruler is Confessed." The newly organized St. Mary Study club which was scheduled to meet Wednesday night at Colum-

DOG AWARDED BRIGHT RED MEDAL

He barked his way to glory and a bright red medal. Early one morning in Chicago, Tober, alert little terrier, smelled smoke in the room. So insistent a barking and whining he set up, that his master and mistress and many other residents of the apartment building awoke in time to extinguish a fire. So the Illinois Humane Society awarded him the badge.

 and dogwood and natural undergrowth. They were bare, and a little gloomy looking now, but from past years, Nina knew their glory in the springtime.

Then, suddenly, they were in full view of the great, familiar Georgian house; the two-story entrance porch, with its slender, fluted columns; the lovely entrance door, with its fine palladian windows above; its two long, low wings with a glimpse of boxwood off to the left above the brick wall that enclosed the garden. . . and the magnificent copper beeches, little the two old holly trees on either side of the entrance. . . Nina drank it all in.

A slender figure in rose appeared in the doorway. "Welcome back to Harmony," Nina said Hester Semple, quietly, as her guest alighted. "It's been a good many weeks since we've had the pleasure of a visit from you."

Nina said, "It's simply grand to be here, Hester," but she thought: "What a formal, prepared, little speech!" And then she thought: "What a beauty!" Hester's hair was as black as a raven's wing. She wore it parted in the middle and drawn back over the tops of her ears to a heavy coil at the nape of her neck. Her eyes were gray and quite tragic looking when you caught her off her guard. The rest of the time, the bia hall has postponed its meeting until Dec. 15 since the study books have not arrived. Christian Mothers' society of the church will meet at 7:30 Friday night.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy," alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism. Denounced" was the subject of the lesson-sermon for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist. The following citation from the Bible was included: "And when he had called all the people unto him, he said unto them, Hearken unto me every one of you, and understand: There is nothing from without a man, that entering into him can defile him: but the things which come out of him, those are they that defile the man. Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you."

"I've a fine mare for you tomorrow, youngsters. . . Gray Dawn, out of Dawn Cloud. She'll carry you better than anything you found down at Warrenton this autumn. Remember how your father and old Dawn Cloud used to get along?"

"Of course I do," Nina was a good horsewoman. In more affluent days the Staffords had kept saddle horses at the riding club in town; and Nina had hunted with her father in Yorkshire, England—and in the Yorkshire, Warrenton and the Harford country—and, of course, here, with Carl Semple. "I hear you're considering Sweet Music for the Maryland. . . that comneering animal!" "Oh, he has his bad days, but who hasn't?" "Well, you know how to handle him, if anyone does," Nina admitted, "but Lord! Twenty-two fences with that chancey jumper!" She shook her head. She had had occasion to watch Sweet Music when he was decidedly off pitch.

"There's only one jump on the whole course that might bother him—the second. Remember it, Nina? A stiff post and rail under trees. . . Trees bother him."

Hester turned away. It was impossible to say that she had paled, for there was never the slightest vestige of color in her cheeks, but a

200,000 Chinese Make Paper Ghosts As a Livelihood

Used Throughout China For Sacrificial Purposes

One of the queerest industries in the world is that which occupies the lives of more than 200,000 people in the Province of Chekiang, China, who almost wholly depend upon the making of paper "ghosts," used throughout China for sacrificial purposes.

Japan and China may be at the point of bayonet's on virtually every question except that of sacred paper. In China, vast quantities of paper are fabricated to be converted into spirit money, tapers, incense wrappers, firecrackers, and to satisfy many other ceremonial requirements. This according to David Hunter who, in "Natural History," Journal of the American Museum, delves into the history of paper.

In Japan," he says, "plain pieces of paper are folded neatly and placed in the temples, as paper even devoid of writing may be offered as a prayer. In the Japanese language the word kum means both god and paper."

"The use of ornamental paper, cut to represent various objects and burned at Chinese funerals, dates from the very inception of paper-making. Objects of all kinds are constructed of paper and burned at the bier of the deceased so that the departed spirit may have an abundance of the things represented by the frail paper effigies. Along certain streets of all great cities of China are shops where these ghost-like replicas are sold—highly ornate cardboard chests with shiny gold and silver paper locks, flowing robes of paper painted with golden dragons and complicated patterns, shoes, hats and all manner of wearing apparel made of paper."

"For the relatives of the wealthy, the craftsman in paper also constructs full-sized carts, horses and even automobiles, the thought being that when these fragile representations go up in smoke they will eventually assume reality in Heaven and the deceased will have horses and vehicles at his disposal. Great quantities of mock money are burned every year in China and all over Asia where Chinese have made their homes. If sufficient 'money' is burned the deceased will be able to purchase elaborate clothing, fine horses, and other necessities after reaching the spirit world."

Nina changed the subject. She didn't want to mention Richard, or even think of him, but she hadn't seen the Semples alone since her mother's marriage, and she knew it would seem unusual if she didn't speak of it.

So . . . "Now then, you two, what do you think of my little Honey stepping out and getting herself married?"

Carl boomed out his opinions for both of them, as usual. He thought a lot, apparently, but chiefly that it was a grand thing; and Richard, having known a keen appreciation of horse flesh, was aced with him.
